WE NOMINATE

Wilbur Heskett York, one of the country's ranking authorities in the challenging field of student health and active over the years in a dozen or more Princeton service organizations, who this week on his 67th birthday announced his retirement as Chairman of Princeton University's Department of Health. In requesting retirement, effective next June 30th, a year ahead of the "university norm," the Tennessee-born physician is rounding out a many-sided career that in the words of President Robert F. Goheen "has exemplified the high qualities of leadership and service traditionally associated with the professions of medicine and teaching."

Called to Princeton a quarter-century ago as successor to the late Joseph Raycroft, founding chairman of the Princeton department, York as a physician-teacher has been largely responsible for shaping a far-reaching program which has few peers in the United States. In addition to supervising the Isabella McCosh Infirmary, that measures its annual volume of consultations and treatments in multiples of 5,000, he has broadened the base of preventive medicine to include careful oversight of athletic teams, periodic health examinations and a sensible program for mental health. In every direction he has sought to develop on the part of student and teacher alike "an intelligent and realistic attitude towards health."

A member of the Class of 1916 at Randolph-Macon College, where he combined Phi Beta Kappa honors with varsity baseball, York taught and coached on both the school and university levels before entering upon his life's work in medicine. In 1918, after completing advanced study in chemistry at the University of Virginia, he joined the faculty of Emory University (Georgia) as associate professor of physiological chemistry and taught there in the medical school until he took up full-time medical studies at Johns Hopkins in 1922. He received his medical degree in 1924, served his internships in Baltimore and Chattahooga, and migrated northward to Cornell University in 1926.

His decade at Cornell as teacher, physician and acting medical director brought him into such close association with students and their health problems that he found his interests veering away from his area of medical specialization, internal medicine. He became more and more engrossed with student health and implemented measures that brought national attention. For example, York at Cornell founded one of the earliest college programs for mental health, an interest he has continued here in developing a program that makes available on his staff a full-time psychiatrist working in close cooperation with the University's Counselling Service and Board of Advisers.

York, a commuting staff member in cardiology of St. Michael's Hospital, Newark, and a medical consultant to the Devereaux School for handicapped children in Philadelphia, has made a habit of shouldering heavy responsibilities in Princeton community life. A past president of the Princeton Tuberculosis League and president of the Dorothea Van Dyke McLane Association, a foundation concerned with the welfare of the youth at Princeton, he has long been identified with Princeton Hospital and the Princeton YMCA-YWCA Corporation. Among his other major interests have been the First Presbyterian Church, of which he is an Elder, the Boy Scout movement in the Princeton area, and the various agencies sustained by the United Community Fund.

For insisting that the primary responsibility of a school, or college, physician is to help students "learn from their first-hand experience with illness how to protect themselves"; for his pioneering efforts in such vitally important areas as wide-scale tuberculosis surveys; for his contributions down through the years to both Town and Gown; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

TO THE POLLS

Close Races Expected. Republicans cast in the unusual role of outsiders seeking to unseat Democratic incumbents lend added interest to Tuesday's general election. The Democratic party has rarely been in control of Princeton Borough and has not owned a majority in the Township within memory, but next week's balloting will climax the efforts of three G.O.P. candidates to replace men who punctured the monopoly that Republicans long held in this community.

Despite the fact that Princeton is the birthplace of political poll-taking, Gallup-style surveys have never been made here at the local government level. This week, as the campaigning drew to a close, each side was confident of victory, and there were no coldly-analytical figures to prove that one of them was indeed whistling in the dark.

By most measurements, it has been a quiet campaign in both municipalities, centering largely around the traditional door-bell ringing (less than usual this year), coffee-hours and the League of Women Voters' Candidates' Night. The basic bone of contention is the pros and cons of Urban Renewal, a program originated under a Republican administration and then given new impetus during Mayor Male's regime. It is at this proposal that the G.O.P. candidates have directed most of their fire.

OPPONENTS AT THE POLLS: Henry S. Patterson (right), Republican candidate for mayor, will seek to block Mayor Raymond F. Male's bid for a third two-year term in Tuesday's election.

Both sides have planks in their platforms promising steady efforts to obtain the long-needed 206-A Bypass, with the Republicans charging Democratic laxity under Mayor Male's administration and the Democrats promising to maintain "the insistent pressure" they have applied to this end. Virtually unnoticed was the statement of a fortnight ago by Republican mayoralty candidate Henry S. Patterson that "I am not in favor of consolidation." While the long-debated merger of Borough and Township has never followed party lines, his stand on this point alone could determine the votes of those who seek to protect Borough isolation, and those who feel that Princeton's only logical course in the era of pell-mell growth ahead lies in complete coordination of municipal management.

Mayor Male will seek to push farther back into history the long years of Republican domination during the Erdman-Sturges regimes—a virtual quarter-century interrupted only by the single term served by Democratic Minot C. Morgan, Jr. Running with him will be another Democratic incumbent, John B. Redding, Jr., and a 1959 candidate, Miss Esther C. Dilworth. (For a look at their final stand, see story, page 3, and advertisement, page 19.)

Mr. Patterson's Republican running mates are Alan W. Carrick and Joseph R. Wood; none of the trio has held elective office (nor sought it) previously. Their final campaign statement is summarized on page 3, their climactic political advertisement appears on page 14. A second Republican appeal to the voters is made on page 26.)

Marvel vs. Wilson. Although only one vacancy will be filled Tuesday in Princeton Township, interest in the outcome is running unusually high in the race between the Democratic incumbent, William W. Marvel, and the G.O.P. nominee, William L. Wilson. Mr. Marvel's campaign has been based on his record and on his appeal to keep two-party government alive in the Township.

Of the two candidates, Mr. Marvel has been the more active in working for victory at the polls. Much of his thinking on the need for retention of two-party government in the Township appears in the advertisement on page 11.

HUGHES VS. MITCHELL

No Clear Victor Seen. The race to succeed Robert B. Meyner, who has governed New Jersey since 1953, has elicited tacit agreement on one point in both camps: the outcome is expected to be extremely close. Both sides are expected to issue victory claims running from 50-100,000; either would obviously settle for the slim 22,000 (or less) by which President Kennedy defeated Senator Nixon in New Jersey a year ago.

Impartial observers incline to this trend, far better known at the outset as a member of President Eisenhower's cabinet, and victor in a rough three-way April primary, James P. Mitchell had a clear-cut lead during the early months of the campaign. Richard J. Hughes, a former Superior Court Judge in the state, had never before sought public office, made no headlines in a virtually unopposed primary.

Judge Hughes' tireless campaigning from one end of the small but highly-populous state is generally conceded to have brought him the attention requisite to a potential winner. The question, on which there is naturally widespread disagreement, is the extent to which he has cut into Mr. Mitchell's early lead.

Democrats are hopeful that President Kennedy's speech in Trenton this Thursday will tip the balance in their candidate's favor. Their late-October optimism is based on the contention that the President would place his vote-getting prestige

Shelter Discussion Set

"Should We Build Fallout Shelters?" is the topic of a public meeting scheduled for Tuesday, November 14, at 8:15 p.m. in First Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Richard Siegler, chairman of the Princeton Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy (SANE), will be moderator. The meeting is being sponsored by SANE, the Fellowship of Reconciliation and the Princeton chapter of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

Captain Geoffrey Sage, director of civil defense and disaster control for both Borough and Township, will be the principal speaker. A member of the Scientists' Committee on Radiation Information of New York City will also speak. A question and answer period will follow both talks.

at stake in New Jersey only if he felt Judge Hughes capable of victory at the polls.

While the results in many of the state's 21 counties will play a major share in the outcome, the voting in two will be given particularly close attention Tuesday night. Essex normally a Republican stronghold, gave President Kennedy a 50,000 majority last year and Democrats say they can hold the county for Judge Hughes.

Hudson County is, of course, conceded by both parties to the Democrats, but opinion clashes on how great a plurality it will produce for Judge Hughes. In what is expected to be a close race, estimates range from 60,000 (the Democratic claim) to 35,000 (the Republican forecast).

To those for whom the political game is a fascinating contest, even though their only direct contact with it is a brief moment in the voting booth, Tuesday night's election reports promise an extremely interesting evening.

In Mercer County. While most Princetonians who go to the polls will vote for a candidate for every office, many of them will do so solely on a basis of party affiliation. The various races, the personalities, the issues involved in offices ranging from state senator to county freeholder largely by-pass the rural and residential communities.

Mercer County went Democratic in the late '40's, and a first-time office-seeker from the Republican ranks has not been elected since. The last holdout was County Clerk Albert Rees, who retired from public life midway through the last decade, and since then Democratic control of Mercer has been complete.

Of those seeking office at the county level, two are Princeton residents, one an incumbent. Edward J. Sweeney, 181 North Harrison Street, Democratic Assemblyman, is seeking a second two-year term. John Kuser, 140 Galbreath Drive, is one of the Republican candidates for the same office.

Four public questions will also appear on the ballot. For a summary of the implications of each, and TOWN TOPICS' position on all four, see page 4.

Cory T. Kämmler

The other day a friend was talking about the ancient abacus, developed in China thousands of years ago to perform arithmetical calculations, and still in use in the Orient.

It is a simple frame with parallel wires or grooves on which beads are moved right or left to represent units of one, tens, hundreds and thousands. This simple "adding machine" was known and used in all the civilizations of antiquity. In the Roman Empire, it was a grooved tablet, and in medieval England, it was a tablet ruled into spaces for the positioning of the counters or coins or buttons or stones, which were moved from space to space, to make the calculations.

No other aid to man's mathematics was known until 1642 A.D., when a young Frenchman, by the name of Blaise Pascal, conceived and built the first mechanical calculating machine that worked.

From that start, we have come a long way to our modern electronic computers, that can solve a million mathematical problems in 7 minutes!

Ours is certainly an era of amazing accomplishments, not the least of which is your modern car, which has become such a necessity. Mischief night Monday was quiet, according to police, but a few victims of practical jokers might disagree. . . . a car parked at Princeton Hospital had liquid shoe polish poured over it, another on Wilson Road had all the air let out of its tires and a man on Mount Lucas Road sat in his car for two hours with a shotgun to forestall any such nonsense.

CANDIDATES SPEAK

In Final Statements. In a last-minute appeal to Borough and Township voters, Republicans and Democrats this week re-stated their positions on such matters as economy, the two-party system, open government and the 206-A By-pass.

Borough Republican candidates Henry Patterson for Mayor, and Alan Carrick and Joseph Wood for Council, raise the question of the 206-A by-pass and ask why Mayor Male "with his boasted Trenton affiliations," has not advanced the 206-A cause. The Republicans also challenge Mr. Male's "open government" policies, suggesting that it is difficult to find out what the mayor thinks about various civic matters, specifically a redevelopment plan for the Jackson Street area and traffic control as "the Borough is turned into a city."

The statement also cites litigation that has risen during Mr. Male's administration, and questions his handling of Urban Renewal as likely to lead to an "outsized" Borough. The candidates also express their opinion that Mr. Male's "Tell It To the Mayor" sessions each week are "an excuse for his unavailability at other times on matters of importance."

In conclusion, the Republicans ask why the Advisory Committee on Recreation has not had a chairman since the previous one resigned in March.

Democrats Cite Record. Borough Democrats, led by Mr. Male and including Council candidates John Redding, Jr., incumbent, and Miss Esther Dilworth, stress the present administration's record of achievement on traffic and parking solutions, citing the continuing need for emphasis on planning.

"It is not a question of whether or not there will be change," the statement says, "but only whether or not Princeton will be prepared for the inevitable change which is to come."

"Certainly no one wants Princeton the hub of a vast, urbanized region," states Miss Dilworth, "our task is to plan best how to absorb, limit and control the changes which will take place, while maintaining so far as possible the unique character of our community."

Citing the Male administration's record, the statement says that, contrary to Republican charges, citizens have been kept informed of civic problems and decisions through the press and through daily contact with groups and individuals.

The statement points to the acquisition of off-street parking sites in the central business district, the establishment of the Council's committee on the Future of Princeton and the advisory committee working with the planning board.

Democrats propose, for the future, to keep pressing the state for a 206-A By-pass, to continue "open government" with weekly press reports, weekly open house and publication of agenda.

Township. Democrat William Marvel, running for re-election to Township Committee, asks his opponent, William Wilson, why he has not replied to Mr. Marvel's "open letter" asking for elaboration of Mr. Wilson's financial proposals for the Township.

He also expresses regret that the campaign has not led to a debate, and says that he has taken a clear stand, but that Mr. Wilson has confined himself to "stock, platitudinous phrases" about economy and finance.

The Democrat candidate also refers to his opponent's endorsement of what the present Committee has done, and suggests that this endorsement contradicts Mr. Wilson's later proposal that Committee practice "rigid governmental economics." Mr. Marvel expresses his belief that Committee has been neither spendthrift nor lavish.

Referring to his campaign stand for two-party government, Mr. Marvel suggests that Committee's Republican majority absorbs the contributions of individual Committeemen, presenting them later as Republican contributions, and ignoring the individual contributions of the minority member.

Mr. Marvel cites the recent announcement that the Institute of Urban Research, Rutgers, would be asked to carry out a consolidation study. He says that he conceived the idea of asking the Institute, prepared the draft letter to the body, saw it approved by both municipalities, but has not been recognized as the author of the idea.

"How far is a candidate justified in going to assure himself and his party of proper recognition of their contributions?" Mr. Marvel concludes.

Republican. In his final statement, William Wilson, Republican candidate for Township Committee, says, "Small economies, and large ones as well, must be achieved in the management of Princeton Township's affairs if the real estate tax rate is to be kept within reasonable bounds and the financial position of the municipality protected."

Mr. Wilson asks that each proposal be evaluated "as to whether or not it can return dollar-for-dollar value through its contribution to public health, safety or education, or the protection or enhancement of property values."

He says that the current controversy over snow-removal should never have arisen, and that the sidewalk construction program "is something I would approach with considerable restraint."

Repeating his opposition to long-term borrowing of relatively small amounts for minor improvements, Mr. Wilson goes on to reaffirm his belief in careful financial planning that could reduce the carrying charges paid on "the very large program of borrowing for capital improvements that we inevitably must face."

Citing the Township's "A" credit rating and the Borough's "AA" (for municipal borrowing purposes), Mr. Wilson urges an effort to induce credit agencies to raise the rating. Such a raise would mean a lower intrest charge, Mr. Wilson says.

In conclusion, he urges an effort to attract non-residential ratables, retaining professional assistance for such a project. He also expresses his hope for a professional study of consolidation.

REFERENDA PRESENTED

For Voters' Choice. When voters go to the polls Tuesday, they will be asked to vote on four state public questions.

(1) "Green Acres" Bond Issue. This act would provide $60 million for the public acquisition of lands for recreation and conservation.

Of this sum, $20 million would be used to match county and municipal funds so that individual municipalities could acquire lands for recreation. The 35-year, 4 percent bonds would be issued only as the money is needed, and interest and principal would be met from the general state fund and covered by fees from state recreational facilities.

Land purchase would conform to the state's Master Plan. The state's department of conservation and economic development believes that New Jersey, as one of the most urban states in the union, must act now to preserve open space for future needs.

The director of the National Park Service has endorsed the "Green Acres" proposal as a pay-as-you-go measure, which would be paid in part by the people who will be using the lands in the future.

The issue is opposed by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association, Inc., which believes that interest costs could raise the outlay to $100 million. The group also believes that the state already has such acreage "in excess of long-standing and nationally recognized acreage standards."

The New Jersey Association of Real Estate Boards also opposes the measure, basing its opposition on the cost of developing the areas to be used for recreation, and expressing the opinion that the state already has an above-average ratio of population to recreational acreage.

TOWN TOPICS urges a "Yes" vote on "Green Acres."

(2) Institutional Bond Issue. This measure would provide $40 million for mental hospitals, homes for the retarded, reformatories and penal institutions, providing for both new buildings and repair.

The situation is grave because the population of the state has increased by half in the last 20 years, and the state has not built any major correctional institutions or facilities for the retarded during that time.

Overcrowding is serious and the waiting lists are long, particularly for institutions caring for retarded children. In many institutions there is critical need for fire-proofing, work space for therapy programs, enlarged infirmaries, and expanded living-space.

The measure has bi-partisan support. So far as is known, it has also the support of every state-wide organization, and no organized opposition.

TOWN TOPICS urges a "Yes" vote on the Institutional Bond Issue.

(3) Emergency Government. This is a proposed constitutional amendment which would give the legislature power to provide for succession to office if state, county or municipal governing officials were incapacitated because of enemy attack.

TOWN TOPICS urges a "Yes" vote on the Emergency Government amendment.

(4) Amusement Games. This referendum would extend the amusement games licensing law, passed in 1959, to groups that hold agricultural fairs and exhibitions. It would be operative only in municipalities that approved the original law in 1959.

Both the Borough and the Township approved the 1959 law, but the agricultural fair aspect of the present extension means it would, in practice, have little application in either Princeton municipality.

That heat wave which dominated the weather during the early part of the week was more real summer than Indian. It's apparently gone for good now, but the mild temperatures will be with us for a while.

The weekend brings no prospects of real rain, absent from these parts for the past fortnight. October, actually, was quite dry, with a scant two inches of precipitation. Showers are a Saturday possibility, the Man reports, with the temperature remaining around normal for mid-fall during the next few days.

News Of The THEATRES

"OUR TOWN" COMING

In McCarter Series. A play that made history at McCarter Theatre will return Friday when "Our Town" opens in a new production directed by Milton Lyon and designed by William D Roberts. Curtain time is 8 30 p.m

Thornton Wilder's "Our Town," which was to become a classic of the American theatre, had its world premiere on the McCarter stage on January 22, 1938. In his play, Mr Wilder did something that was radical and breath-taking in 1938: he dispensed with scenery and theatrical effects, and asked members of the audience to dress the scene with their own imaginations.

To star as Emily, the Wilder heroine, McCarter has obtained the services of Jane McArthur, named Best Off-Broadway actress of the Year for her performance as Emily in the Circle-in-the-Square "Our Town."

Miss McArthur toured last summer with APA, playing Olivia in "Twelfth Night," and featured roles in "The Tavern," "School for Scandal" and "The Seagull." Television viewers have seen her in the Armstrong Circle Theatre, the U.S. Steel Hour, Kraft, Omnibus, Kaiser Aluminum and other network programs.

Richard Dysart will be Stage Manager. Ramon Bieri, seen in "Androcles and the Lion," will play Dr. Gibbs, and Jon Cypher, Shaw's Dunois in "Saint Joan," will be George Gibbs. Two Princeton residents, Anne Sheldon and Betty Fussell, will also be in the cast, Mrs. Sheldon as Mrs Soames and Mrs. Fussell as "Woman in the Balcony."

"Our Town" will share the repertory program of the fall season at McCarter with three Wilder plays: "Pullman Car Hiawatha," "The Long Christmas Dinner" and "The Happy Journey to Camden and Trenton." The final performance of "Our Town" will be November 18. The triple bill of Wilder will open November 10.

WE IMPROVISE

"Second City" Here. The art of theatrical improvisation will be illustrated for McCarter Guild members this Sunday evening when four actors appear in "From the 'Second city'" at Murray Theatre, 8.30 p.m. The evening is open to Guild members only and they must make reservations by calling WA 1-8700. There is no charge.

The production, if it can be called that, takes its name from the title of a "New Yorker" piece on Chicago. At the Chicago home of the company, drinks and coffee are served, and there is a late-night set where audience suggestions are taken and actors' ideas are tried out.

The trials that are successful are put into the show, or saved for the next show. The improvised scenes can be put together into a scene-for-scene production, if not a line-for-line one.

At Murray Theatre, the actors will take suggestions given by the audience and work out scens from them. Barbara Harris and Alan Arkin of the "Second City" company will come to Princeton, accompanied by two actors, as yet unnamed.

IN LEADING ROLE: Jane McArthur is cast as "Emily" in Wilder's "Our Town" at McCarter Theatre.

"BEGGAR BOY" BACK

At Intime. "Beggar-Boy of Bagdad," a three-act children's play with music and dancing, will be given by the Children's Repertory Theatre this Saturday in Murray Dodge Theatre at 10.30 a.m. and 2.30 p.m. The production is being sponsored by Theatre Intime.

Constance Loux, author and director of the play, has assembled a professional New York cast for the Princeton production. In her "Beggar-Boy," she tells an oriental fantasy about a young Prince who is banished from his kingdom by a wicked magician disguised as a Grand Vizier. There is a talking dog, a beautiful princess and, of course, Scherezade.

After the Princeton performance, the Children's Repertory Theatre will begin a New York run.

EXPLORER TO SPEAK

At McCarter. In the second of their Travel Adventure Film Series, the Princeton Kiwanis Club will present explorer Clifford Kamen, a well-known film lecturer, at McCarter Theatre Tuesday evening at 8. Tickets are available

Rock 'N Roll Cancelled

The failure of Bobby Peterson's band to arrive at Dillon Gym Friday night forced cancellation of the rock 'n roll show, "Six Big Ones," a C-K production. It was the first such failure of the organization in its two-year history.

An audience of some 700 waited for an hour for the show to begin. After that delay a comedian, George Leval, appeared to attempt to get the show started. His routine, surprisingly funny, was very poorly received by the ill-mannered, but understandably disappointed, crowd.

One group, the Crests, made a brief appearance, but without the band noise to back them, sounded only like four men singing badly. Hal Kroeger then announced that the show would be cancelled and the money refunded.

at McCarter, the University Store and from Kiwanis members.

Mr. Kamen will personally narrate his memorable film, "The Splendors of Persia," taking his audience to that ancient legendary land which is present day Iran. Some of the interesting highlights captured in the film: a mass migration of remote tribesmen, the tombs of Darius and Xerxes, the caviar industry and the catching of giant sturgeon, the crown jewels of the Shah, the golden Peacock throne, and oil fields so rich that petroleum oozes to the surface.

Mr. Kamen has traveled to more than 50 foreign countries. He has contributed extensively to the National Geographic Magazine and is one of the few independent film producers accredited for production of Encyclopedia Britannica Films.

YEAH, I GOT A MATCH: Frank Sinatra, as a belligereot convict, faces priest Spencer Tracy in a scene from "The Devil at 4 O'Clock," technicolor spectacle opening Wednesday at the Playhouse. Filmed in Hawaii, the story concerns the evacuation of a leper hospital during a volcano eruption.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Devil at 4 O'Clock (November 1-7) is an action and spectacle picture which includes an absorbing and dramatic conflict between two heroic figures and their battle with nature. The title comes from a Spanish proverb: "It is hard for a man to be brave when he knows he must face the devil at 4 o'clock." Filmed in Hawaii in color, the story concerns an island volcano which threatens to erupt and destroy a leper hospital on the island.

Spencer Tracy portrays the aging priest who is in charge of the eventual evacuation of the hospital. During the course of the evacuation, he conscripts the help of three non-religious convicts, including Frank Sinatra. The volcano's magnificent eruption provides the catalyst which draws the story to its moving conclusion.

Both able scene-stealers, Tracy and Sinatra prove their claims as two of Hollywood's finest actors, when they put their minds to it. Barbara Luna is touching as a blind native nurse, with whom Sinatra falls in love. The only weakness is a fuzziness of purpose in some of the dialogue scenes, which takes away from the incisiveness of the picture. Rating: two fine actors do justice to a sometimes moving tale.

The Hustler (November 8-14) is an admirable exercise in the art of acting. The four main stars are called upon to make an unreal world, that of the pool-room and skid row, alive and believeable. The story is powerful tragedy, which ends in a horrible waste.

Paul Newman is credible and effective as the "hustler," a pool shark who makes his living gambling on his ability. Piper Laurie, returning to movies after several years, proves herself a dramatic actress of note, playing Newman's girl friend. Jackie Gleason is subdued and magnificent at Minnesota Fats, a legendary pool player, and George C Scott, who can steal a scene from anyone (remember him as the prosecutor in "Anatomy of a Murder"), is the malignant incarnation of evil as Newman's promoter.

The story is a sordid one, set in a sordid world, and is necessarily brutal. Censor problems over two scenes were resolved by leaving them in, and the result is an incredibly realistic film. Robert Rossen produced and directed with a sure hand which has resulted in a tight, tense drama which doesn't seem as long as it is. Rating: a strange side of life, brilliantly presented.

THE GARDEN

Exodus (October 29 - November 11) runs three hours, thirty-three and one-half minutes. The intermission adds 15 more. We had the feeling that maybe it would have been easier to stay at home and read the 600-page novel by Leon Uris.

The story comes in two parts: first the escape of thousands of post-World War II Jewish refugees from a British prison camp on Cyprus, followed by their fight to establish the state of Israel over the protests of the British and the Arabs. A mass hunger strike solves the first problem while two solutions, one peaceful and one violent, are proposed for the second, as yet unsolved.

Paul Newman heads a competent cast as Ari Ben Canaan, leader of the Jewish underground organization. Eva Marie Saint plays an American nurse, in love with Newman, who is caught up in the struggle for liberty. Others in the cast include Lee J Cobb, John Derek, Peter Lawford and Jill Haworth. Sal Mineo is surprisingly effective as a bitter young rebel.

Otto Preminger produced and directed the movie, which was filmed in Israel in color and wide screen. The story is sometimes moving, sometimes filled with action, but often too "preachy." Rating: longest of the long.

WRAP IT UP

You. That is. The robe is the wrap these cool fall days at Edith's where you can find everything from velvet to cotton flannel to keep you warm, and a lot that won't keep you warm exactly, but will certainly make you nice to have around the house.

A bluegreen quilted velvet robe, taffeta lined, closes with rhinestone buttons and swings from a very full back. It's duster length with a wide,pointed collar. $45. A more formal affair, designed to be worn as a hostess gown, if you wish, is pale pink taffeta printed with smudged, full-blown roses and held together only by its own full wrap-around cut and an emerald velvet belt. The back swings free, peignoir style, and the bodice is a surplice made by the wrap around.

Another hostess gown has a U-neck black velvet top and a full, imported cotton skirt of lemon, blue, olive, royal and sage plaid.

A gown and robe set has been made by combining a rose orlon and nylon fleece duster (collarless, satchel pockets, flat bow at neck) with a deep rose gown done with a print of shaggy peonies over a pale rose lining. Another robe in the group, which could be worn with the gown, is raspberry satin with black outlined flowers scribbled on its color.

On the gown side, Edith has a confection collection in white with pink and green rosebuds. A fitted gown is printed all over, right up to the shoestring straps, and a shift gown confines its rosebuds to a wreath at the yoke. The waltz peignoir has ridiculously full puffed sleeves and pan collar, and the matching bed jacket has even fuller puffed sleeves and a flared cut. The entire ensemble is quite irresistable, if you're too young for black maribou.

A nylon "pouff" robe in blue red oripale pink has a taffeta lining and matching slippers. an orlon-nylon fleece duster is a white and black Dalmatian print with a narrow black leash for a belt.

For double duly as a hostess robe or a boudoir robe, Edith's has a white washable wool flannel garment, floor length, with gold piping round the collar and the cuffs, and four gold buttons. Its short version is like a blazer, with navy trimming on the white.

Incidentally, Edith buys her floor-length robes extra long so that they will fit tall women. The short ones can have the hem adjusted without charge.

Magificent splashing print covers a shift gown (sleaveless, with gathers at the neck, no yoke) and its matching half slip and panty. Hems are scalloped, fabric is tricot.

If warmth is your goal and not glamour, look at Edith's "granny gowns," fashioned with long sleeves, floor hemlines and high necks. One is brushed nylon in pink or blue with a bit of applique at the collar. (Also in pajama, bedjacket and waltz length.) Another is in white cotton flannel with minute red rosebuds, and a third is cotton challis in pink or blue print with a high, pointed collar and a narrow band of lace to outline the yoke. Both the last-named gowns are $3.98.

Maribou!

For pure, delicious wickedness, there isn't much that can match a black chiffon negligee framed with maribou, and although you may not associate Chambers Street with delicious wickedness, you will have to go there to see, at Edith's, a waltz-length negligee hemmed, piped, collared and cuffed with a deep roll of maribou feathers. The negligee also comes in pale pink with pink feathers.

However much you gasp at the black or murmur at the pink, you'll admit that the topping in this maribou group is a bed jacket that looks exactly like a scoop of whipped cream. It is made entirely of white maribou with a white chiffon tie at the neck and it weighs about as much as a teaspoon of spun sugar. Ask Edith to tell you the prices.

WAX AROUND A WICK

New "Candle Room." The Country Mouse has always had candles in stock, but things get so busy and the candle supply waxed so, that the mouse has now opened up an entire new room and filled it with nothing but candlelight. You never saw so many candles in your life: esoteric colors like dusty rose or dusty lilac, burnt orange bittersweet, royal purple and goodness knows what else: esoteric designs that unfold like Japanese flowers and esoteric shapes like trees and numbers. Well!

The pride of the new shop at the moment, is Bluegate's candle artfully made of an inner core of soft wax and an outer core of hard wax. This means that after the candle has burned for some time, it will begin gradually to overflow, or to "bloom," in a sense, until you have a mature candle with gracefully loping petals of lavender, blue, pink, red or whatever your candle is.

These are scented in lemon verbena, lavender and so on, or unscented, and they come in 6, 10, 12 and 15 inch heights, three inches across.

We like some other cylinders, made like conventional candles, but colored most agreeably in autumn shades of dull gold, wine or bittersweet, or holiday colors like red, green and white. Their counterparts are oblong columns, same height and color as the cylinders.

Squat four-inch candles, their diameter the same as their low height, come in lavender, red, green or gold to arrange on a dinner table so that guests won't have to dodge the flame in order to see each other.

For birthdays, Country Mouse now has four-inch high numbers that are really candles. You get five pink and five white numbers and you line them up according to whether your birthday girl is 10 or 45. Small birthday candles, plain or twists, cake holders and the like, are also available.

We liked the wedding candles, and you will, too. Choose from Martha and George Washington, John and Priscilla Alden or just a bride and groom to stand on top of wedding or anniversary cake.

For Christmas, there will be even more candles of course, but you can begin by buying the 12-inch antiqued gold Christmas tree candle, or the red, green and blue glass containers with "NOEL" and manger scenes in gold on the out-

MUSIC

HAYDN'S "SEASONS" Opens Symphony Series.

The opening concert of the Princeton Symphony Orchestra's 1961-62 series, at McCarter Theatre on Monday evening, presented the first performance here within memory of Franz Josef Haydn's oratorio "The Seasons." The soloists were Virginia Babikian, soprano; Robert Holland, tenor; and Herbert Beattie, bass; the chorus was the Symphonic Choir of the Westminster Choir College, and the orchestra's musical director, Nicholas Harsanyi, conducted.

The relative neglect of "The Seasons"—as compared, for example, to the same composer's "Creation"—is explicable on external grounds: its secular subject matter, a certain awkwardness in the standard English translations, and, most especially its length. Without cuts, the work runs to nearly three hours, which puts it beyond the pale for the average modern concert.

By judicious cutting, the length of Monday evening's performance was reduced to manageable, if still generous, proportions, and, once again, we are in debt to the Princeton Symphony for its intelligent and adventurous programming. To say that orchestras should play masterpieces would seem to be stating a truism—but some masterpieces do not get played, and many probably met this one for the first time in the flesh the other night.

The introduction was in good hands, for the most part; the chorus sang firmly and cleanly, the soloists were more than competent, and the orchestra accomplished its arduous task with considerable credit. A remarkable quantity of the text came over with great clarity, which is no mean feat; special praise should go to Mr. Beattie in this respect, and for his noble voicing of his last aria, which is to many the high point of the piece.

It would be possible to disagree with Mr. Harsanyi on some matters of tempo and balance, but there is room for difference of opinion on the first matter, and the second is much dependent upon one's location in the house (the press seats were in an area of dubious acoustical virtue). In one place, however, there was an evident misunderstanding of Haydn's clear intention; the two choral passages at the end of "Spring" are meant to be played without any pause, and the hiatus which was made at this point completely undercut the very striking change of key at the words "God of light!"

Other than this, all the great moments were present, and so were the little infelicities of the English translation, the awkward constructions and the pre-echoes of Samuel Smiles, to which the admirer of "The Seasons" must eventually become reconciled. Or must he? At least one new, and much improved, translation (by Dennis Arundell, commissioned by Sir Thomas Beecham) has appeared in recent years, and should be considered for use when the work is next performed. There is nothing sacrosanct about the original translation; in fact, Arundell's version manages to come closer to the language of Thomson, on which the German which Haydn set was based.

The audience was of impressive size, but there was still room for more, which suggests that this particular Princeton institution is not yet sufficiently appreciated by the concert-going public. The Princeton Symphony and its programs are a unique and valuable part of our local musical scene, and they deserve support. It may also be added that they are pleasurable events—not a minor point.

IN CONCERT SUNDAY. Matthew Raimondi, violinist, will be heard in Sunday afternoon concert.

TO PLAY PIANO, VIOLIN In Recital.

A program of music for violin and piano will be presented Sunday at 3.30 in McCosh 10 under the auspices of the Friends of Music at Princeton. The recital is open to the public without charge.

Performers will be Matthew Raimondi, violinist, and Yehudi Wyner, pianist. Mr. Raimondi, a graduate of the Juilliard School and Columbia University, has performed extensively in Europe and America and has recorded for Columbia and CRI. Mr. Wyner studied piano at the Juilliard School and at the Yale School of Music and has played recitals with Mr. Raimondi for several years.

Mr. Wyner studied composition with Hindemith and Piston and has received many awards for his works, notably the Prix de Rome. His "Serenade for Seven Instruments" was recently recorded by CRI.

Sunday's program will begin with the "Tartiniana Seconda" by Luigi Dallapiccola, and will be followed by Roger Sessions' "Sonata," one of the most difficult works in the solo violin literature. After the intermission, the recitalists will play Brahms' Violin Sonata in D Minor, Opus 108 and the Concert Piece for Violin and Piano by Matyas Seiber.

GUITARIST TO PLAY Sabicas Here.

The flamenco guitarist Sabicas will appear in a matinee concert at McCarter Theatre on Sunday, November 19 at 3 p.m. as part of the Theatre's winter program.

The concert is the first of three. The other artists will be Julian Bream, young classical guitarist, who will play on January 21 and Richard Dyer-Bennett, folk guitarist who will appear on April 29. Series or single tickets are available for all three.

side, or the ColorGlo fireplace candles that put scent, sputter and sparkle into your fireplace. Six little stubby candles for a dollar.

To light all this, Country Mouse has Japanese matches in little drums covered with modern Japanese papers; elongated fireplace matches, also in Japanese boxes, and five-inch long old fashioned matches.

MOHAIR AND TINSEL And Big, Fat Wool.

Wool Mohair has been combined with tinsel in a French yarn called Titania, now available at The Knitting Shop on Tulane Street. Buy a pale blue-grey, white or rosy tweed to make dressy sweaters or stoles.

Italian mohair is ombre, in shades of rust and green and grey magenta, jade and grey; beige, gold and tan; or ripe solid colors like avocado, peach, royal blue, red, chocolate or the softest most lyrical blue-grey you ever saw. There is a clear butterscotch, too, and baby pink and lilac, in a truly splendid color assortment.

French mohair is bicolor, with parallel strands of champagne and mink; red and white; turquoise and black; black and brown; blue and green.

Scandia by Bernat is an all-wool yarn as thick as rope, but infinitely softer, spun in varying thicknesses that come and go along the yarn as you knit. Each color has a subordinate color threading through it, to provide a magnified tweed effect when the sweater has been completed.

You knit Scandia on 13 and 15 needles, which gives you an idea of size. Drop one stitch and you've got an armhole. Colors are black and blue; red and gold; ice blue; olive and grey and so on. The Knitting Shop has a book of patterns that will accommodate everybody in the family, including jazzy teenagers and sedate matrons, and considering the speed of the knitting, you can create for them all.

At the other end of things, the Shop produces, from its locked vaults presumably, a spool of gold lame—real gold, Mable—to use for sheaths, bags, evening jackets and the like. Silver, too. You crochet or knit, having first taken out an Insurance policy against leaving your knitting bag at the dentist's.

Natural silk yarn from Italy can be used for dresses or for cheering homesick silk worms. It is a flat, rather squashy yarn with a silky sheen that is inherent in the breed. Rose, off-white, beige, black or powder blue.

If you really are planning to knit for Christmas, the Shop will order for you some washable rayon taffeta labels that say "Fashioned by . . ." or "From the Knitting Needles of . . ." or "Made Especially for You by . . ." and your name. You get a dozen for a dollar.

IS THERE A DOCTOR IN THE HOUSE? There may not be soon, if a growing number of doctors have their way about curtailing house calls. For the opinions of Herb Stout (left) and George Holmes on the proposal, see below.

Question of the Week

Question: An increasing number of doctors now insist that the only way they can practice modern medicine effectively is to refuse time-consuming housecalls and make the patient come to their office, except in rare cases? Do you agree?

Where Asked: Around town.

Mrs. Philip Erlich, 41 Littlebrook Road, Housewife: No. I don't agree. I can't see a lot of sick children congregating in a doctor's waiting room and communicating their illuesses to one another. As for adults, I think a modified version of this might be all right.

Mrs. Oscar Goldman, 71 Einstein Drive, housewife: Good idea. The cost of living has risen considerably but the charge for a doctor making a house call is still relatively modest, based on the number of calls he can make in a day. I think it is reasonable. I think most people can make it to the doctor's office unless they are very sick and that is covered by your question. Also, since doctors don't get paid adequately for the time spent in traveling on house calls, I think it is fair that they ask the patient to come to them.

Elmer Johnson, Clarksville Road, Princeton Junction, construction worker: No, because I have a wife that's paralyzed and can't get out. By the same token, my father-in-law took sick a while back and we called the doctor and he wouldn't make a house call. While we were trying to get another doctor to come, he died. So I don't think much of this.

Herbert Stout, 15 Bank Street, heating and oil burner serviceman: No, absolutely not. I don't think we should have any more of these eight-hours-a-day, five-days-a-week doctors. We should go back to the old-fashioned type who would come out to see his patients. There is only one doctor in all of Princeton that will go out at night—all the others are 8-to-5 doctors.

George P. Holmes, 165 Witherspoon Street, steward: No, the doctors are supposed to take an oath that they will help people in need at any time. Here in Princeton, they will not come out any hour in the evening. The only way you can get a doctor at night is to call the police and have them take you to the hospital.

Mrs. Jack Whitehouse, Princeton Junction, housewife: Yes, I think it is a good idea, provided the doctors also provide an ambulance for the sick and struggling patient.

Mrs. W. D. Horrigan, 17 Piedmont Drive, Princeton Junction, housewife: In a sense, I do, because I think most of them are nuisance calls, especially in the case of pediatrics. But I think the way the doctors could do away with this is to go to the house and then holler afterwards, either with a stiff bill or a good chewing-out. The average person, I feel, should use a little more discretion in calling a doctor. But, in the end, I know if I had a sick child, I would want the doctor to come.

George Matthews, 55 Murray Place, retired construction worker: No. How about a patient that has no transportation. Another thing, lots of times you have to wait an awful long time unless you have an appointment. If you don't want to wait you have to make appointments in advance. What if something serious is wrong and you walk right into a doctor's office and have to wait?

Mrs. Rosalie Clark, Raymond Road, Kingston, housewife: Yes, I think doctors are overworked and most times a parent can wrap a child up and bring him in. We're in a modern age now and have warm cars. I think a lot of people feel they can't make the effort. If you're really sick, that's different but a lot of mothers think they can't possibly move their kid. My brother's a surgeon and many times I've seen him come home at 1 a.m. and out again at 4. And then people wonder why doctors aren't available all the time.

Mrs. Thomas Stix, 16 Deer Path, housewife: It may be true as far as the doctors are concerned but I think, from the point of view of the patient, it is more helpful if the doctor comes to the home, especially if the patient isn't feeling well or has a high fever. The number of patients he can see in a day or how quickly he can care for them shouldn't be his only considerations: he must also consider the comfort and well-being of his paticuts.

Bert Moore, Theological Seminary, student: I would say it is not an either-or situation. I don't think a doctor can arbitrarily tell over a telephone how sick a person is and whether or not he, or she, should come to his office. I think a doctor should be willing to go out and see the patient the first time to ascertain how seriously ill he is. A doctor, by the very mark of his profession, the fact that he is there to serve the people as a humanitarian, should be willing to make house calls. No doctor can expect to have a perfect group of individuals for his practice. There are bound to be some who will be difficult and expect more from him.

Mrs. Robert Harwood, 8 Clearview Avenue, housewife: I think if a child is too sick to go to the doctor's office or has a high temperature, then I think the doctor should come to the home. But I do agree if it is at all possible, patients should go to the doctor and not have the doctor come to them.

Mrs. Richard Whitehouse, Stockton Street, housewife: Absolutely not. How about the child who may have scarlet fever and you bring him to the doctor's office and he has exposed himself to everyone? I don't know where the practice of medicine is heading right now. If the patient brought to the doctor's office were left in a private room, that would be all right. Most of the time, however, you have to wait over an hour with a cranky child in an overcrowded, overheated, lection, which he estimated as worth thousands of dollars. Mr. Matthews has staged public exhibitions during the summer of his collection, which included works by Henri Matisse, Igor Troubetskoy, David Savage and Hans Erni.

Also destroyed were household possessions belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dent, which were stored in Mr. Matthews' attic. Mr. and Mrs. Dent had rented Mr. Matthews' house during the summer while they were building a house on Province Line Road, Skillman. Mr. Matthews, who spent the summer in another building he owns across the street, had just moved back the day of the fire.

The fire was first noticed by two boys, Jamie Ajamian and Freddy Cook. They reported it to Jamie's father, James A. Ajamian, a member of the Blawenburg Fire Department, who placed the fire call. By the time the fire truck arrived, however, the blaze had already burned through the roof and the walls of the upper story.

Dogs Rescued. Two other members of the Blawenburg Fire Department, Arthur Parsell and Edward Seyfarth, had noticed the blaze before the fire call was placed and had reached the scene in time to rescue the two dogs.

The fire was brought under control by 10 p.m., but sporadic blazes continued to break out until morning, when only the chimney remained standing.

BOARD SAYS "NO"

To Bank, Apartments, State. The state's plan to make Valley Road a through street, a proposal for a 125-unit garden apartment between Mt. Lucas and Jefferson Roads, and the First National Bank's branch on Riverside and Nassau all received a unanimous "no" vote Thursday night from the Township School Board.

On the Valley Road question, Township attorney Gordon Griffin suggested that the Board direct its "vigorous, unanimous" opposition by letter to Township Committee, the Division of Motor Vehicles, the Township's Traffic Safety Committee, the Governor "and the President, if necessary."

Commenting on the state's announced decision to withhold action on other Township traffic requests unless Valley Road is accepted, Mr. Griffin attacked the state for using its approval power to coerce, and said, "I find it hard to believe that such capriciousness would ever hold up in court. To apply one traffic situation to another, is a grudge action, and I cannot think it would stand up in law."

The Board stated that the proposal to reverse stop signs at Valley and Witherspoon and Valley and Jefferson is a "definite hazard" to school children, providing a 45-mile-an-hour sweep from Route 206 to the Shopping Center.

On the Bank. In the bank matter, the Board opposed the branch because of the traffic it might produce.

"The bank is a little foolish to say that traffic will not be generated by its branch," observed Dr. John F. McKenna, superintendent of schools. "If they don't expect traffic, why build the branch?"

Dr. McKenna also said that only three Riverside School children are transported to school and that all the rest walk. It was also pointed out that, even when school is out in the summer and in the late afternoon, children cross Nassau, Riverside and adjacent streets to use the school playground.

The Board then decided to write a letter to Borough Council expressing its opposition, based on the possible traffic increase. The Board will also be represented on November 9 when the Borough Zooing Board's recommendation on the bank is heard before Borough Council.

In regard to "Mansgrove Gardens," the proposed garden apartment project between Valley, Mt. Lucas and Jefferson, the Board recorded its opposition again on the basis of traffic. It was pointed out that the addition of 125 living units would throw the Township school growth pattern out of line, and make the community's school temporarily overcrowded.

However, Board members expressed the opinion that it was their job to provide schools for whoever lived in the Township and that they wished to express their opposition to "Mansgrove Gardens" only on traffic.

The Board will also ask the County to designate the entrance to Johnson Park School on Rosedale a "school zone" thereby reducing the speed limit to 25 m.p.h., and to re-

"POLITICS AS SUCH STOPS AT THE DOOR OF TOWNSHIP HALL"—
Republican Candidate

(Maybe, but someone had better bolt the windows, because look what's happened!)

LET'S LOOK AT THE FACTS

We, The Independent And Democratic Majority Are Not Properly Represented On The Three Most Important Government Bodies

TOWNSHIP COMMITTEE

R. and REP. are abbreviations for Republican.

R	R	R	R

* The ninth member is the School Board Representative. He is deliberately omitted from this portrayal of the one-party domination of the Planning Board because of the strictly non-partisan nature of the School Board.

One-partyism has been ended on the

Township Committee

BUT IT STILL RULES THE PLANNING BOARD

Four facts the voters should know about the one-party Planning Board

1. THE PLANNING BOARD WIELDS GREAT POWER, BUT CANNOT BE HELD ACCOUNTABLE BY THE CITIZENS. Its members are appointed by the Township Committee for six (6) year terms, so rotation is slow! Its veto power—its power to block change—is virtually absolute.

2. APPOINTMENTS TO THE PLANNING BOARD REMAIN A ONE-PARTY PRIVILEGE. On this important board, there should be a diversity of viewpoint. Appointments should follow a painstaking search for the very best talent available. This is not usually the case. (Twice Bill Marvel urged, in writing, the names of well-qualified independents and Democrats for the Planning Board. Twice he was ignored. Once an appointment was made without Marvel's even being consulted.)

3. THE MASTER PLAN, WHICH THE PLANNING BOARD "ADOPTED" AND REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES RUN ON FOR ELECTION EACH FALL, IS A HOLLOW SHELL. When it was "adopted" almost none of the critical decisions had been made: not on the road plan, sidewalks, multiple housing, sewer extension, water supply, open space, nor general office or light industrial zoning. What is a Master Plan that lacks these vital parts?

4. THE IMPACT OF THE PLANNING BOARD HAS BEEN OVERWHELMINGLY NEGATIVE. It has not sparked a single new or forward-looking proposal that anyone can think of. (The excellent effort of the open space committee originated apart from this board.) A recent major policy decision—that on multiple housing—was announced to the press without even prior notification, not to mention consultation, with the Township Committee!

PRINCETON TOWNSHIP PAYS A HIGH PRICE FOR HAVING A ONE-PARTY PLANNING BOARD

WILLIAM W. MARVEL

A Thoroughly Qualified and Widely Experienced Candidate

Executive Associate, Carnegie Corporation of N. Y. (10 years' experience as officer of one of 3 major foundations, working in field of education throughout the country)

20 years' experience in government and public affairs, from municipal to international levels.

Ph.D in Politics, Princeton.

Teacher of government at Princeton, Yale and West Point.

WHO IS THE FINANCIAL EXPERT?

The case for the Republican candidate has been based entirely on the financial experience it is claimed he would bring to the Township Committee.

BILL MARVEL has presented a careful, reasoned analysis of the Township's tax problems, and has proposed a new approach to keep taxes under control. (See Town Topics, Oct. 22-28, page 14.)

HIS OPPONENT has repeatedly used such words as "rigid economy," but has declined to talk in specifics. MARVEL'S OPEN LETTER, POINTING OUT INCONSISTENCIES IN HIS PLATFORM, HAS NEVER BEEN ANSWERED.

WHO HAS BEEN IN CLOSER TOUCH WITH MUNICIPAL FINANCE?

RE-ELECT

WE DANES—AND YOU

DENMARK AT WORK

How the Danes make a Living and the curious things they produce.

SCHOOL TEXT BOOKS of an early date state that Denmark's principal means of existence are agriculture, hunting and fishing. The modern ones omit hunting. Nowadays we do a great many other things instead.

Still, in terms of the largest quantities, butter, bacon, eggs and pork are the main products of the Danes. They have succeeded in rearing pigs to an identical size, an identical length, an identical fatness, and an identical good humor; and they are very pleased with the practcial outcome. They consume a small part of the pigs themselves and send the rest into the world with Danish butter, Danish cheeses, and Danish eggs —the latter said to be marked so that one can see which hen has laid the egg and when, though who can interpret the marks in this way nubody really knows.

We also produce ships, cement factories, bridges, and railways which are disposed about the world pretty well wherever there is or has been a demand for ships, cement factories, bridges, and railways.

We catch a good many fish (worth nearly 200 million kroner a year) and most of them are delicious eating. We have no interest in the others. Perhaps the fisherman throws them back. We couldn't care less.

We irritate many a husband by producing more mink than any other country in Europe, we also produce sugar—to the delight of many a housewife, we make good beer and splendid liqueurs, guaranteed to mollify the most irritated of husbands.

We export silver, porcelain, furniture, cheese, ham, abstract paintings and oysters. We can tell you in confidence that we completely control the markets of the world in flints.

Apart from all this we produce everything normally produced in a country which exists on its agriculture, fishing, commerce, and industry. We have no iron. We are, therefore, particularly good at making machinery it seems. There are other raw materials we need but we regard ourselves as pretty good at turning them into—whatever it is they make.

TOWNSHIP INVOLVED

In Bank Hearing. Township Committee will be represented on November 9 when Borough Council holds a special session to consider the Borough Zoning Board's recommendation in favor of a First National Bank branch on Riverside and Nassau.

Either Township attorney Gordon Griffin or a representative of Jack Kendree, the Township planning consultant, will be present, said Joseph Nini, Township administrator. Members of Township Committee are still studying the bank question and will reach no definite decision on their stand until the next Committee meeting, to be held Monday night, Mr. Nini said.

Approximately 250 Township residents have petitioned Committee to represent their case against the bank before Borough Council. The proposed branch would be in the Borough, but it is across the street from the Township and next to Township land which is zoned for residential-educational purposes.

APARTMENTS PROPOSED

For Princeton Junction. A plan for 180 apartment units in Princeton Junction will be submitted this Thursday night to the West Windsor Zoning Board by C. Lawrence Dey, on whose property the units would be built.

The 46-acre tract on which Mr. Dey would like to build lies east of the Hightstown Road and south of Cranbury Road behind the buildings occupied by Bohren's Moving and Storage.

The 180 units would be built piece by piece, probably about 20 units at a time, according to Mr. Dey. They would consist of one-and-two bedroom apartments priced at $140 to $200 a month, and planned around a central park area. Mr. Dey estimates the cost at about $2 million.

For Election Results
Tuesday Night
Call TOWN TOPICS
WA 4-2200

The density would be four units per acre for the 180 total, Mr Dey says. As owner of the land and resident of the adjoining property, he would serve as manager of the project himself. The apartments lie in West Windsor's village-residential area and Mr. Dey will require a variance from the Zoning Board in order to build.

GATHERINGS PLANNED

By University League. The University League of Princeton University will hold a series of neighborhood gatherings for league members during the first two weeks of November.

Neighborhood directors will act as hostesses at teas or morning or evening coffee hours. The purpose of the league is to promote social and friendly relations within Princeton University and to give members an opportunity to participate more fully in university life.

IT'S FAMILY NIGHT!

Saturday at the "Y". The first fall Family Night program at the YMCA will be held this Saturday starting at 6.30. Events include a family swim, buffet supper and campfire program of singing and movies.

The evening will begin with a 6:30 p.m. family swim, followed by a buffet supper. After supper, there will be a campfire program in the lounge around the fireplace with group singing, and later there will be a color film on the Olympic games in Rome and special cartoon movies for children.

Reservations should be made at the YMCA office. The program is open to "Y" families and their friends.

MRS. MEYNER TO SPEAK

At Institute Tea. Mrs. Robert B. Meyner will speak at a tea to be held this Thursday at the Elm Ridge Road home of Mrs. Jackson Martindell, member of the Association Board of the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute. The tea is being held for the presidents and welfare chairmen of the Federated Women's Clubs in the Fourth District in conjunction with the Associations membership drive.

Mrs. Meyner will speak on the work of the Association. Mrs. John O'Hara, president of the Board, will be present to answer questions concerning their work and that of the association.

We Pledge:

1. To maintain the Borough in good economic health, as a residential college town, without massive doses of Urban Renewal and Federal handouts.

2. To persuade the state to give top priority to the construction of the major by-pass, Route 206-A, so that the Borough as we know it will not be destroyed by ever-increasing numbers of through trucks.

3. To cooperate in all ways with our neighboring municipalities to achieve the construction of other roads, particularly a "loop road," which will alleviate traffic congestion on Borough streets.

4. To foster cooperation with the Township in exploring the feasibility of joint action where common interests exist.

5. To support the passage this November of the state-wide referendum on the acquisition of "Open Spaces" so that the Borough can join with neighboring municipalities to obtain ample recreational facilities for its citizens.

6. To see that our local government is conducted with fairness toward all Borough citizens, with particular regard to the rights of the individual property owners directly involved.

Zoning Decision "Dismays"
To The Editor of Town Topics:

The decision of the Zoning Board to permit the building of a branch bank in the eastern section of the Borough must dismay those who had hoped that this area of Princeton might retain something of its attractive residential character, and not become just one more depressing example of contemporary urbanization, with its typical congestion, noise and threats to safety.

Now a bank. What else, in five years, or in ten? The precedent is set. A restaurant might be nice (don't worry about the fact that no unimproved land may then be available; houses with lowered values may be sold and demolished).

Then a gas station? A supermarket? And finally, that ultimate gift of progress and civilization, a shopping center? Why not, if zoning regulations are to be set aside so easily?

Apparently there are a few who think it would be a convenience for them to have a branch bank close by, so they will not have to go to town so often. They should be comforted; someday they will not have to go to town at all, for town will have come to them.

ROBERT D. MURRAY, JR
28 Cedar Lane

Spot Zoning Attacked.
To The Editor of Town Topics:

Some years ago my wife and I decided that we should consider moving from a highly congested suburban area near metropolitan New York to an outlying community which offered more to a family with growing children. After careful deliberation we selected Princeton because of its reputation as a cultural center, residential atmosphere, and of course the excellent reputation of its school system. I'm sure that many hundreds of commuters who live here and travel to New York (100 miles round trip) or Philadelphia to work share my sentiments.

This finally brings me to the point of this letter. The residential character of Princeton, which induced me to build a house here, now appears to be placed in jeopardy by loose zoning law interpretation which allows spot zoning in residential neighborhoods. Such is the case of the application of the First National Bank of Princeton which requests a change of zoning to build a branch bank at the entrance to the residential Riverside area.

I am in agreement with Mr Shehadi, who opposed the bank's move in a letter to you last week. What guarantee do we have from one year to the next that zoning management will pursue a policy consistent with the homeowner's desire to protect residential areas from spot business zoning of this type? Let us confine commercial activities to those areas in the Borough and Township that are zoned for this purpose.

Perhaps the bank could expend as much energy in seeking a business-zoned location as they have in the unrelenting drive to invade the property in question. Have they petitioned the State Banking Commission or State Legislature for relief so that they might be allowed to build in some business zoned area of the Township which they are not permitted to do under the present archaic banking law?

In my opinion, the privilege of living in Princeton is certainly worth the 100-mile ride each day to work, but will it always be so?

C. WELLES FENDRICH, JR
35 Howe Circle

Marvel's Claims Questioned.
To The Editor of Town Topics:

In his campaign brochure Mr. Marvel has laid claim to a "special relationship" with a number of "accomplishments" of our Princeton Township government in the last three years. In the interest of fairness to the other Township Committeemen and the Township staff, and in the interest of presenting a full picture to Township citizens, I feel that his claims warrant some comment.

As a fellow member of the Township Committee for the first two of the three years Mr. Marvel has served, my observation was that all of the members made valuable suggestions and that all of us regarded this to be part of our job. The prevailing spirit was not one of rivalry nor of desire to claim partisan or personal credit for accomplishments and ideas. It was rather to direct our minds and energies and those of the Township staff toward carrying out the job of the municipal government in as progressive and intelligent a manner as possible.

Now Mr. Marvel has seen fit to present a list of "accomplishments" in his brochure with the apparent purpose of indicating that he has contributed more than his share to the progress of the Township. This claim, to say the least, is grossly exaggerated. Not only have other members contributed at least as much as Mr. Marvel to the Township government, but also some of his specific claims are highly questionable.

For example, he claims a "special relationship" with the development of the Grover Avenue Park behind the Shopping Center. This development followed a recommendation therefore in April, 1959, by the Joint Citizens Advisory Committee on Recreation, a group appointed by the Township Committee and Borough Council in 1958 before Mr. Marvel was on the Township Committee. His contribution to the original development program was less than that of several members of the Township Committee; and since that time the further development has resulted from recommendations of the Township Board of Recreation Commissioners.

Space will not permit full discussion of his specific claims in this letter, but I shall be glad to review the claims with anyone who wishes to call me.

Mr. Marvel's alleged "accomplishments," even to the extent that they can properly be claimed by him, are not sufficient reason, in my opinion, to vote for him when a candidate of William Wilson's outstanding qualifications is available.

STANLEY C SMOYER
86 Olden Lane

Carrick Issues Clarification.
To The Editor of Town Topics:

Please, in fairness to me, correct your reporting of what I said at the League of Women Voters Candidates' Meeting. I then said that 60% of the dwelling units in the Borough are rental units and that extensive areas are presently zoned for apartment houses, the highest standard being based on Stanworth.

The question, therefore, seems to be whether now to relax our low density requirements (play space and off-street parking). If we do, we shall be doing it in order to meet demands for apartments which a large area between Trenton and Ne wBrunswick is generating.

I did not say anything about "holding the line against apartments" and I have never done so in the past.

ALAN W. CARRICK
260 Prospect Avenue

(Editor's Note: TOWN TOPICS based its report on the following statements in Mr. Carrick's prepared speech: "The personnel of the new Research plants think of Princeton first. But the free enterprise system does work. If we give it time, if we hold the line, apartments will be built elsewhere.")

About Dogs Running Free.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Having written a letter three years ago expressing my enjoyment of the free dogs of Princeton, may I now continue?

Any dog that bites people, or fights other dogs, should never run loose. The police, on request, could take up the biters at once. No expensive dog warden is necessary.

As a very active member of the board of the Lawrence Small Animal Rescue League, where lost and homeless animals are taken, we have, and can, cope with the problems of their care.

Perhaps, if the Township and Borough were more strict on the licensing of pets, the municipalities could increase our appropriation, making it easier for us to do more.

An undisciplined, unhappy dog or child is a horror, but because that is true, you cannot keep all children or dogs tied up.

Have you visited a regular "Dog Pound?" Do so if you want to break your heart and be haunted all your life.

The opening last weekend (Oct. 21-22) of our Model Homes Park in Princeton was most successful.

Thank you for your fine editorial support in telling your readers about this new concept in low-cost housing for Central New Jersey. It had much to do with the large number of people who came by to see our display homes.

FORUM ENDS
"Money and Music." With a talk on the "Collapse of Time" given by J Lewis Powell, Princeton Bank and Trust brought to a close last week its four-Wednesday forum, "Money and Music." For the final program, the music was provided by the Princeton University Glee Club under Walter Nollner.

Mr Powell, author and lecturer, presented a condensed history of man, telescoping man's 50,000 years of history into one 50-year lifetime. On such a basis, Mr. Powell estimated that ten years ago, man would have stopped being a cave man. Two years ago Christianity would have been born.

Continuing the parallel, Mr. Powell estimated that 20 days ago, electricity came into use. 10 days ago radio was invented and just yesterday, the jet plane arrived.

Pointing out that Paul Revere, on a horse, could travel no faster than Nero could have, 17 centuries before, Mr. Powell concluded by telling his audience that he could graph 50,000 years of man's technical history on a four-inch piece of paper, but that he would need a paper 13 stories tall to draw a graph of the years from 1945 to 1960.

GOELLERS OPEN OFFICE
For Real Estate Sales. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A Goeller, Princeton area residents for the past 25 years, have opened their own real estate office at 20 Nassau Street. The firm's name in Princeton Towne and Country Real Estate.

Brokers for the last four years, the Goellers were associated with Walter B Howe Inc. since 1958. Mrs. Goeller is the daughter of John K. Roessner, a retired real estate developer in northern New Jersey, and has been active in the real estate field most of her adult life.

Before entering the real estate field, Mr. Goeller was an athletic coach at the Lawrenceville School for 17 years and chief title examiner of the Garden State Parkway's real estate division. He served as a commander in the Navy during World War II.

The new firm will handle residential and commercial properties in the greater Princeton area. Mr. and Mrs. Goeller live at 20 Manning Lane, Lawrenceville. Their daughter, Lynn, is a freshman at Miss Fine's School.

NEW FRONT ADDED
To Applegarth Inn. An 18th century look has been added to the 19th century Applegarth, Inn, located just off Route 33 east of Hightstown. A stagecoach and market stop on the old road between New York and Philadelphia at the turn of the century, the Applegarth is owned and managed by Tony Lane and his wife, who bought the Inn in 1948.

The wrought iron grillwork and Colonial front are the latest additions to the restaurant, whose dining room was remodelled in 1956. Lunch is available from 11:30 to 2, and music is featured on Saturday evenings. Dinner, from the Italian-American cuisine, is served from 5 p.m., and late diners over football weekends are encouraged to make reservations. The telephone number is HI 8-0449.

SPECIAL SALE OFFERED
By Building Center. The Building Center on the Princeton-Hightstown Road in Princeton Junction is celebrating its third birthday with a series of special sales and savings. The birthday celebration will last through Saturday, according to owner Samuel W Pillsbury.

Mr. Pillsbury, who lives at Braeburn Drive, purchased the combination store and lumber yard in 1958 from the Conover and Emmons Corporation who had operated it for almost 20 years. Since assuming ownership, he has completely remodeled the store and added new lines of products, including Glidden Paints and Stanley Hardware.

Several customer services have also been added under Mr. Pillsbury's guidance. These include a home improvement service, free delivery service and parking, three-to-five-year financing, and a free measuring service for buyers of windows and doors.

A native of Boston and a Harvard graduate, Mr. Pillsbury was a sales representative for the Diamond Match Company before moving to Princeton. He is a member of the Home Builders Association of Delaware Valley and the Princeton Chamber of Commerce.

MAIL JOBS OPEN
At Post Office. Applications for substitute clerk and carrier positions are being accepted at the Princeton Post Office. Postmaster Charles F. Murray has announced.

Mr. Murray said applicants must be U. S. citizens or owe permanent allegiance to the United States. A written test is required; starting pay is $2.16 per hour. Application forms may be obtained at the civil service window in the Post Office.

JOIN TECHNICAL STAFF
Of Applied Data Research. Three men have been added to the technical staff of Applied Data Research, Inc. on State Road, it was announced by the firm's president, Ellwood Kauffman.

They are William S. Cooke of 37 Wheatsheaf Lane; Robert M Caughey of Hopewell, and Warren F. Spalding of Plainsboro. Before joining ADR, Mr. Cooke worked as a programmer and system analyst in the Adjutant General's Office in the Pentagon.

Mr. Caughey supervised the activities of programmers working on the design and development of a communications system for use by the U.S. Air Force, and Mr. Spalding, as a systems consultant for the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, designed computer systems for sales and statistical reporting.

ADR has increased to more than four times its original size since it was established in 1959. Starting that fall with seven people, it now employs 30, of whom 25 are members of its technical staff.

BANK APPOINTS LUCK
West Windsor Manager. Norman H. Luck of 32 Laurel Avenue, Kingston, has been of the West Windsor Office of appointed assistant manager of the First National Bank of Princeton by the bank's Board of Directors.

Mr. Luck, who is Chief of the Kingston Fire Department, joined the bank in 1950 as a bookkeeper and has worked in various departments. He has attended the Trenton Chapter of the American Institute of Banking.

ORC NAMES LACY
To Survey Direetor. Francis J. Lacy of Kendall Park, has been promoted to the position of survey director at Opinion Research Corporation.

Mr. Lacy joined ORC in 1959 as an associate survey director, having served previously as assistant to the research director of the Sperry and Hutchinson Company, New York. He is a graduate of Iona College, New Rochelle, and holds a master of arts degree in economics from Fordham.

Is Life Insurance
a good investment?

It depends on what you want from an investment. But if you are like most men, you will need an investment that will do these 4 things—create an immediate estate for your family in the event of your early death, give you an adequate income if you are disabled, provide a lifetime source of retirement income, plus liquid funds for emergencies. From this standpoint Life Insurance ranks second to none. A permanent Life Insurance contract with a Disability Income benefit, is the only investment that can guarantee this combination. Even in periods of severe economic stress, Life Insurance has a unique record of dependability.

For more information on what an investment in Life Insurance can do for you, just call the Man from Manufacturers. You'll find he has an interesting story to tell.

Why I Plan to Vote

Republican

By Margarette B. Brown

I will vote for Henry Patterson for Mayor of Princeton Borough because I think he will be an outstanding mayor. He is intelligent, energetic, honest and passionately interested in the welfare of the citizens of Princeton.

It is vitally important that we have good government and the best government starts at the local level. Prudent management and sound administration are prerequisites for good government. Henry Patterson is a man of proven administrative experience. His successful business career as executive vice-president of a large water company in New Jersey has brought him into intimate contact with municipal problems throughout the state. He is widely known and respected and is well equipped to give Princeton the objective leadership it needs in Trenton, particularly in solving its traffic problems.

Mr. Patterson's experience will be most helpful in analyzing and finding solutions for the problems our municipality faces. His stand against Urban Renewal is not only courageous but shows a proper concern for finding the best way to cope with a difficult situation.

Another point I would like to make is that our mayor must have the time to devote to the many and varied problems of city government. We are fortunate that Henry Patterson can give the time and attention to the job that it warrants.

Then there is Henry Patterson, the friend, neighbor and family man. This is a side of the Republican candidate that few people in Princeton are priviledged to know. I am one of the fortunate few. Here is a warm, human person; kind, generous, gentle. One knows instinctively that this is a good man, a man who would always place duty above self in every situation, great or small. There is one more important reason why I believe Henry Patterson will be a good mayor for the Borough and that is, he is not interested in using the mayoralty as a stepping stone for higher office. His interest is solely in Princeton and for a better Princeton. This is the kind of man who will always get my vote.

Henry Patterson is uniquely well-qualified to give Princeton a dynamic, progressive administration. He will not allow it to drift and stagnate in the face of increasing urbanizing pressures. Time is running out. It is time for a change.

The present Borough administration, like that of the state, is expiring. Princeton deserves the same kind of purposeful leadership at the local level that Jim Mitchell will provide for the state. Vote right for Princeton; vote for Henry Patterson.

I am a Republican, but I have split my ticket in the past. This will not be the case this year. Alan Carrick and Joe Wood will definitely get my vote.

Their appearance on the same platform with the Democratic candidates at the League of Women Voters meeting last week convinced me that they are far more able to handle Borough problems than their opponents. I hope the voters of Princeton Borough will take advantage of the opportunity we have to elect such a great team.

Democratic

By Oscar May

I am very appreciative of being given the opportunity to express my opinion about the coming election and why I plan to vote Democratic.

In 1959 I stated that in Ray Male, we of Princeton had the first mayor to hold "Open House," which was the beginning of an opportunity for residents of every section of town to confer with the mayor and voice their opinions. Now, two years later, we have seen the invaluable results of this close relationship.

In my many discussions around town with various citizens, people have expressed a very grave concern with the problems which confront them. Uppermost in their minds is urban renewal.

Unfortunately, many have thought that this is Ray Male's plan, and those who were opposed to it erroneously blamed him. Actually, it was Ray Male and the Council who altered the plan they inherited so as to protect the homes of people in this area.

First of all, let's stop to consider honestly how many of us are concerned, not with the appearance of our town, but with our own interests. I do not refer to those in the area with very decent interests to protect, such as Mr. Griggs. Nor do I say that I am in favor of tearing down anyone's home and having no concern for the individual.

I am saying that when these persons are provided with suitable places in which to live, then I can go on record as saying that renewal of this type is a progressive thing.

Some will say that tearing down homes will mean that Princetonians have to move out of town to find places to live. In some cases this has been true, but as president of Hageman Homes Civic Association (Clay St.) I have had very close association with the authorities and I know that every eligible resident of Jackson Street has been, and is being considered for any vacancy which now exists or will exist in Clay St., Franklin Terrace or Maple Terrace.

If we are really honest with ourselves, let us ask ourselves how many of us can walk on Witherspoon Street and look into Jackson Srteet and say we are proud of it? I think that when you ponder this question, you will agree that this particular area of Princeton is in need of renewal or removal for the improvement of the community. There are those who are concerned about the process of Urban Renewal being a means to demolish other areas. Let's make it our aim to see that only the necessary steps are taken and not those which may only be to the advantage of one or more private business interests.

Again I say, let us think first of what really is the aim

why should you buy a
SYLVAN POOL now?

here are the reasons why

1. Now is the time when Sylvan Pools' prices are the lowest ever on all 50 custom shapes & sizes. Choose an existing Sylvan shape or design your own with Sylvan.

2. Sylvan's prices now mean that you can save $250 up to $650 depending upon size. Example: a 20' x 40' pool priced at $4790 may now be purchased for $4390.

3. Pool shown above—the 3 pools in 1 Sylvan "S"—may now, for the first time, be purchased at no extra cost. Has clear swimming, separate diving & wading area.

4. By buying & installing your pool now you have the opportunity for arranging and completing all your landscaping before the next full swimming season arrives.

5. Buy and install your Sylvan Pool now and be assured of swimming from the first warm day next season. This means you will have 100% usage of your pool next year.

6. The savings you'll enjoy for installation now may, in many cases, cover the purchase of a Pool Heater that will extend swimming throughout the month of October.

7. A Sylvan-engineered pool permits the free-forming of ice during the winter months. Thus, you can ice-skate and make your pool a year 'round recreation center.

8. Take advantage of Sylvan's 14 years of vast experience which includes over 2400 pools built to date including hotels, motels, apartment houses, etc.

AFS STUDENTS HERE

For Year of Study. Students from Switzerland, Holland and Sweden are studying at Princeton schools this year under the foreign exchange program of the American Field Service.

Alfred Markwalder of Switzerland and Arine Brusse of Holland are at Princeton High School. Lillemor Warnhammer of Sweden is at Miss Fine's School.

Markwalder is living with Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Keizer of Princeton-Kingston Road. Miss Brusse is living with Mr and Mrs. George D. Wlkinson of Belle Mead. Miss Warnhammer is living with Mr. and Mrs. William H Walker of Westcott Road.

Alan Keizer, Edith Wilkinson and Katherin Walker are acting as student hosts for the foreign students. The purpose of the AFS program is to promote greater understanding among people of different nationalities.

OPEN HOUSE PLANNED

By West Windsor PTA. Open house programs will be held at Penns Neck and West Windsor schools next Wednesday evening. They will be sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association of West Windsor Township.

Parents will be able to meet their children's teachers and follow a shortened version of a typical school day. Samples of students' work will be on display. After the classroom visits, refreshments will be served in the cafeteria of West Windsor School.

There will be a business meeting at 8 in the auditorium of West Windsor School. Classrooms will be open at Penns Neck School from 7 to 8. Classrooms will be open at West Windsor School from 8 to 10.

INGATHERING PLANNED

By Needlework Group. The Princeton branch of the Needlework Guild of America will hold its annual Ingathering on Thursday, November 9, at 3 p.m in the social room of First Presbyterian Church.

Guest speaker will be a representative of the Family Service Agency of Princeton. All interested persons are invited to attend. Last year the Princeton group distributed 2,657 new garments to 22 area service agencies.

RADIATION IS TOPIC

Of College Club Meeting. Dr. Richard Barach, radiation protection officer at Princeton Hospital, will speak on "Radiation—What It Is and Methods of Protection Against It in Atomic Warfare" at a meeting of the Women's College Club of Princeton on Monday at 8 p.m. in the Unitarian Church.

Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. James L. Frangos and Mrs. William E. Speers. They will be assisted by Mrs. Schuyler Christian, Mrs. Hugh T. Kerr, Mrs. Ernest Linder, Mrs. Lefferts Loetscher, Mrs. John Servis and Mrs. Ray Shankweiler.

of the mayor and council. I am sure that if you think very carefully you can not help but agree that never before has Princeton had a mayor who has shown so much concern for residents of every area of the borough of Princeton, and particularly the Negro section of Princeton.

I cannot say too often, that I feel that the process of renewal can be a progressive step, and Ray Male and Council are doing everything they can to carry out the wishes of the entire town and all the people.

Let us stop to consider who is our first real working mayor? Who is the first to hold Open House? Who is the first to come out with weekly reports in the paper? Who is the first to have Negroes on practically every board or committee which is concerned with the development of Princeton?

These are some of the "firsts" for which Ray Male is responsible and for which we should be grateful. Ray Male's invaluable experience in local, state and federal government has proved to be very beneficial to our community. He is nationally known and has visited the heads of local governments in our own and foreign countries. He has gained invaluable experience which he has brought to us here in Princeton. I for one don't want to exchange this experience for someone who has none at all in government.

As I said before, Ray Male is noted for so many "firsts" that if he is re-elected, there are sure to be many more of them in the years to come.

Let's remember that no other mayor of Princeton can make these claims, and also that never has a mayor from the Western section of town been as beneficial to our whole community and been as willing and eager to encourage the participation of everyone, as has Ray Male. If we are wise, this will again be a Male year!

uncomfortable waiting room. I'm glad my children are grown up.

Mrs. John Bundy, 279 Washington Road, housewife: No, I feel they should come to the home whenever a person is very sick. It complicates things to have to take a sick person to a doctor's office. The person might have pneumonia and it could get worse if you took him out. I don't think you always get the right attention at the doctor's because they are always rushed so. Everytime I go, there are about 10 to 15 people there and I have to wait so long that I almost forget what I came for. I feel doctors can plan their day better to allow for house calls.

Mrs. Patricia Megna, 2515 Main Street, Lawrenceville, housewife: Not fully. I think eliminating unnecessary calling of a doctor is the intelligent way of acting and certain people, particularly over anxious mothers do abuse the privilege, but, on the whole, I feel most people ask the doctor to make a house call only if it is an extreme case. Also, I think today the practice is that even if you call the doctor in case of an accident, he will refer you to a hospital or have you bring the patient in.

STUDENT IS INTERN

In Journalism Program. June Martinick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kozak of 245 Elm Road, is one of 13 students in a special internship seminar in journalism this term at Ohio State University.

Th eseminar is part of a work-study program in journalism begun at Ohio State in 1951. Miss Martinick worked this summer as assistant to the production editor at the Textile Research Institute here. The weekly seminars are devoted to discussions of summer work experiences and preparation of case studies for the university's school of journalism.

Miss Martinick is a senior at Ohio State. She is planning a career in trade publications work after graduation.

Virginia Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Watson of 31 Scott Lane, is a member of the Oratorio Society at Cornell College, Mount Vernon, Iowa. The society will perform Handel's "Messiah" at the college in December.

WORK-STUDY: June Martinick is one of 13 students chosen for a special internship program in journalism at Ohio State University.

David L. Langston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Langston of 15 North Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell, is enrolled in the Air Force Officers Training Corps program at Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio. A freshmen at Kenyon, Mr Langston is a graduate of Princeton High School.

Alfred Busselle of 87 Lovers Lane and John R. Diehl of 84 Clover Lane have been elected officers of the Capital Chapter of the New Jersey Society of Architects. Mr. Busselle is vice-president, and Mr. Diehl is secretary. They will serve one-year terms.

Mrs. Phillip C. Hammond, 478 Ewing Street, and Mrs. David E. Hogenauer, 44 Park Place, attended the New Jer- Congress of Parents and Teachers in Atlantic City last week as representatives of the Princeton Township schools.

James W. Kennedy, son of Dr. and Mrs. John L. Kennedy of 57 Balsam Lane, has been chosen co-editor of "Exile," campus literary magazine at Denison University. He is a senior at the Granville, Ohio school.

Miss Jennifer A. Sichel, daughter of Mrs. Frank E. Taplin of 55 Armour Road, has been named to the Dean's List at Goucher College. A graduate of Miss Porter's School in Farmington, Conn., Miss Sichel is a senior.

Morris Click and Mel Adlerman, owners of the Adlerman Service Agency, spent a week inspecting the Port Charlotte and St. Lucie housing developments in Florida which are being constructed by the General Development Corporation. As guests of the Corporation and the U. S Army, they also visited Cape Canaveral, where a large development for workers will be built by GDC. The Adlerman Agency has the franchise for sale of General Development lands in the Princeton area.

Miss Susan Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Carter of 604 Kingston Road, a senior at Bradford Junior College, Bradford, Mass., will join with her classmates Friday and Saturday in a convocation launching a new program of education and campus development at Bradford. Alumnae, parents and friends have been invited to the campus for a series of meetings.

Members of the senior class at Pine Manor Junior College, Wellesley, Mass., are Miss Elizabeth Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanmore V. Wilson of 67 Lafayette Road, and Miss Valerie O'Dea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Dea of 141 Red Hill Road.

William K. Evans, a member of the Princeton Borough Board of Education, attended the Ninth Annual Workshop of the State Federation of District Boards of Education of New Jersey held at Chalfonte-Haddon Hall in Atlantic City. The Workshop theme this year was, "Goals for Americans—Their Challenge for Action."

Ensign John G. Arscott, son of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Arscott of 159 Hamilton Avenue, serving aboard the U.S.S. Midway, toured South America this summer with the Yale Glee Club. The Club gave concerts in 10 Latin-American countries.

Mrs. Jean French of 101 Cleveland Lane, an undergraduate at the Rutgers University College of Agriculture has been named to the Dean's List for the 1960-61 academic year. Mrs. French is one of 15 undegraduates so honored.

The Rev. Joseph Dunne, dean of St. Joseph's College, Princeton, has been named to a two-year unexpired term on the executive committee of the New Jersey Junior College Association, succeeding Brother Martin Burns of St. Gabriel's College, Lakewood. The Rev. Mr. Dunne was elected at the Association's 24th annual meeting held at Union Junior College.

Dr. J. Douglas Brown, dean of the faculty at Princeton University since 1946, has been elected a member of the University of Rochester Board of Trustees. A nationally-known economist and educator, Dr. Brown was for many years director of the industrial relations section at Princeton. He joined the Princeton faculty in 1921 as an instructor in economics.

Deborah L. Lotz, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Lotz of 160 Guyot Avenue, is a member of the freshman class at Marietta College, Marietta, Ohio. Miss Lotz, who was graduated from Nutley High School, plans to major in sociology.

"GLUE-FINGERED RECEIVER" is what the sportswriting fraternity calls a player who catches one pass after another, and that's what Tiger end Barry Schuman (83) spent Saturday afternoon doing in Palmer Stadium. At left, he plucks a first-period aerial from Greg Riley out of the air while surrounded by Cornell defenders. At right, he nabs an end-zone toss for Princeton's first touchdown. Jim Lampkins (38) of Cornell tackled Schuman before he made the catch and Field Judge John Roper called pass interference penalty, but Schuman hung on anyway. Tigers triumphed, 30 to 25. IVY RACE SUPERB

Five Teams In Race. Far and away the best Ivy League race since the ancient order became formal in 1956 is now swinging into the November stretch run. Five of the eight entries have a solid shot at the title, including three (Princeton, Dartmouth, Harvard) which had been relegated to second-division finishes in the pre-season forecasts.

A 6-1 final is virtually certain to be good enough to share the championship—very possibly could win it outright. Even a 5-2 mark might earn a tie, with two or even three teams sharing the honors.

Ivy Football Standings

The feeling here is that the League's long-time doormat, Columbia, is about to forget more than a decade of disappointment as it earns a place on the top rung of the ladder. Off the remaining schedules confronting the top five teams, the Lions have far the easiest path to travel.

They have won as many games as Princeton, and two of their remaining three are with second-division opponents. If the Lions can trim Dartmouth on November 11, odds are that victories over Cornell and Penn will come their way and the resultant 6-1 final should be a solid bet for at least a share of the Ivy crown.

No Team Is Solid. None of the other four entries in this appealing race is solid on both offense and defense. Princeton has the best attack, blending ability to run and pass better than any other team in the circuit.

But the Tigers will have season-long defensive difficulties, fielding the lightest line in the league and one that is weakened by its share of injuries. There is little doubt that further repetition of the mud and rain that bogged down their attack against Penn and Colgate would hobble them close to the point of defeat in any of their four remaining games with Brown, Harvard, Yale and Dartmouth.

Until its upset last week by Harvard, Dartmouth seemed to be the team to beat because its defense appeared best. But the Indians—a young outfit, like Princeton—also have the toughest opposition to face (Yale, Columbia, Cornell, Princeton) and do not appear likely to finish better than 5-2.

Yale and Harvard lack the offensive power that Princeton can generate. Neither has the breakaway backs the Tigers possess, neither has a passer the equal of Greg Riley. On the other hand, both appear to be better able to contain their opponents than does Princeton's troubled defense—which confronts the Tigers with the virtual certainty that they must produce three to four touchdowns to win. This certainly was the case as the Princeton defense yielded 20 points to Columbia and 25 to Cornell.

Field Will Narrow. If as many as five teams have a shot at the title as November arrives, an inevitable elimination process will occur—even if there are no upsets. For example, this weekend, Harvard (over Penn), Princeton (over Brown) and Columbia over Cornell) cannot help but benefit from the outcome of the Yale-Dartmouth set-to. That, incidentally, will be telecast on Channels 6 and 7 beginning at 1:15.

The Tigers also stand to gain from the outcome of the Columbia - Dartmouth contest and the Yale-Harvard meeting. Their biggest asset, of course, is the fact that they currently own the only "zero" in the lost column. What the odds would have been on such an achievement when the season began ("Yale and Cornell co-favorites for Ivy title, Penn and Columbia seen as dark-horses—Princeton picked sixth") is mathematically incalculable.

Ivy Football Forecast

Princeton over Brown. A breeze for Tigers.

Dartmouth over Yale. Indians' attack better.

Columbia over Cornell. Injuries plague Ithacans.

Harvard over Penn. In and out Crimson in again.

"The Best Defense . . ." There are two ways of looking at last Saturday's 30-25 victory over Cornell in which the visitors very nearly staged the comeback of the decade by jamming across 15 points in 57 seconds. One pinpoints the Princeton defense—it failed to contain a presumably beaten team in such unimpressive fashion that it nearly cost a hard-earned victory.

The second is the familiar axiom on which Princeton football is founded for 1961—"the best defense is a good offense." Having broken the game open by taking a 20-point lead generated by a sizzling attack, the Tigers fortunately could afford to give up two quick touchdowns without walking off the field the victims of a fantastic rally.

Dry Field Turns the Trick. Despite giving up a quick touchdown to Cornell, Princeton controlled the game during most of the afternoon. The Tigers immediately rolled 78 yards for their first TD and, after yielding a field goal to the picturesque booting of Pete Gogolak, traveled 87 and then 68 yards for scores that provided a 21-10 half-time lead.

Nine points on a fourth-period safety and a touchdown march that covered 61 yards provided the cushion necessary to withstand the losers' last-ditch onslaught. The Tigers rolled for 398 yards in all, with Riley, Terpack (see "We Congratulate") and Hugh MacMillan showing up particularly well.

MacMillan, who ran 47 yards in an eye-filling dash down the sidelines the first time he got into the game, scored twice and was named "Sophomore of the Week" among eastern major colleges. Riley added 193 yards to his offensive total with a standout exhibition which saw him complete eight of ten passes. In three Ivy games, he now has 464 yards to his credit.

and is a shoo-in to win the race for individual honors.

Brown Extremely Weak. There is no hiding the fact that Brown, Princeton's opponent at Providence Saturday, has one of the poorest football teams in the east. The Bruins have not only lost all five of their games but have scored only one touchdown—against a weak Rhode Island outfit which topped them last Saturday, 12 to 9.

Coach John McLaughry's team is big, but very slow; it has no ball carrier of noteworthy ability and its hopes for upsets rest on on the passing of quarterback Jack Rohrbach. He has a .366 percent completion average and a .128 interception average. One out of every seven passes he has thrown has been picked off by the opposition.

Even in a year that has been pockmarked by upsets, it seems out of the question that the Tigers could lose this one. They'll be looking ahead to Harvard and Yale, they can't move in the mud, and Brown may be fired-up by its homecoming crowd.

Nonetheless, it should be relatively easy for the Tigers. If the field is dry, it won't be close after the first half.

STEINERT IS SWAMPED

By Running of Pemberton. Princeton High School's Charlie Pemberton played his best game as a Little Tiger Friday afternoon. The burly, fleet-footed fullback caught two touchdown passes and ran for two more, including an 87-yard scoring romp, to lead his teammates to a 40-18 victory over Steinert High School at Harris field.

The upcoming game against Long Branch Saturday contains all the elements of a dramatic struggle. It will feature a potent Little Tiger offense which has exploded for 78 points in its last two games against a sticky Long Branch defense which has permitted its goal line to be crossed only twice this year. The game will be played at Harris Field, starting at 2.

Coach Army Ippolito's eleven is unbeaten this year, scoring shutout wins over Freehold (6-0 conqueror of PHS), Middletown Township, and Union. Its most recent triumph was a 14-6 victory over Paulsboro Saturday. Without question, this opponent should reveal if the Little Tiger offense is more than a transitory thing.

PHS coach Joe Jingoli makes no predictions. "Every game is a tough one," he said. "You never know what to expect. The boys play differently every week and you never know when they may have a bad day."

WE Congratulate

DAN TERPACK
Princeton Wingback

More and more, football is big man's game. When Princeton fielded a line that averaged 195, Cornell outweighed it by 14 pounds to the man. Many a team has two of its four starting backs in the 200-pound bracket—big, bruising ball carriers whose sorties through the middle are extremely difficult to stop.

It becomes the more fascinating, then, that a player who stands 5-9 and whose program weight is no more than 160 should have given the best all-around performance for the Tigers in their track meet with Cornell. Dan Terpack's running, passing and blocking were all of a superior order, but it was his defensive play in plugging the gaps left by the still-porous Princeton line that was the icing on the cake.

Time and again last weekend, Terpack's instinctive ability to break up a play helped make the difference in the ball game. He constantly held Cornell ball carriers to short yardage after they broke across the line of scrimmage, and he was frequently instrumental in helping to pare the losers' pass completion mark to .400 in contrast to the .818 achieved by the victorious Tigers.

On offense, he had the day's best rushing average (9.7 in half a dozen carries); his one attempted aerial was a 27-yard play that tailback Greg Riley completed for a touchdown to put the Tigers ahead for good. In five games to date, Terpack has a standout 6.8 average on the deep reverses that are the hall-mark of the wingback position and a gaudy pass completion average of .600 (including two touchdowns).

This rugged 20-year old from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., shook up the backfield picture a year ago when he won the starting assignment from three lettermen in his second game as a sophomore. His ability was a major contribution toward the fine running game generated by the Tigers, one whose standout average of 231 yards over the nine-game schedule may be surpassed by this year's more versatile backfield.

A first division berth for a Princeton team that was picked to finish sixth is now a virtual certainty. How high in the standings the Tigers will actually go is a question that only late November will answer, but mid-season has already stamped Dan Terpack as a two-way player on the Princeton team second to none.

The swiftness with which the Little Tigers turned a recovered Steinert fumble and two pass interceptions into 20 points in the first period was outstanding. Although the visitors were able to match each of Princeton High's succeeding three scores with one of their own, they were never able to overcome the TD barrage leveled at them in the opening minutes of play.

Tom Olsen started the PHS pyrotechnics on the third play of the game when he recovered a fumble on the Steinert 40. On the next play, quarterback Don Cooper, who was something of a standout himself with three touchdown passes, arched one to George Tucker. Although surrounded by three Spartan defenders, Tucker caught the ball near the sideline, cut back, and raced the last 20 yards to paydirt.

Three plays later, Pete Weber intercepted a Steinert pass on the visitors' 37. Warming up for his big day, Pemberton got a first down on the 24, another on the seven and then carried to the one. From there, his substitute, Tom Reynolds, plunged over for the six points. Olsen kicked his first of four conversions to make the score 13-0.

Moments later, Russ Farkouh intercepted another pass. The Little Tigers wasted no time in cashing it into their third tally as Pemberton went up the middle on the next play for touchdown number one.

Aided by a 60-yard kickoff return by Jerry Buron, Steinert registered its first score early in the second period. This was offset immediately when Gary Mount recovered a Steinert fumble and Cooper and Pemberton combined on a 29-yard pass play to cap a 49-yard drive.

Pemberton Goes 87 Yards. Pemberton virtually covered the length of the gridiron for his third TD. He stopped a Spartan drive by intercepting a pass on the PHS four yard line; ran through the middle for eight yards and, sprung loose by Don Opdyke's key block, went 87 yards down the sidelines. Charlie capped his day by grabbing a short Cooper pass over the center of the line and galloping 23 yards for the score in the final period.

Though the Pembertons and the Coopers grab all the headlines, Jingoli pointed out that the reason they were running so well is that the PHS offensive line is opening up the holes. Pemberton echoed Jingoli when he attributed his fine play against Steinert to his teammates on the line. "Some PEMBERTON ON THE WAY: On this first-period play, PHS fullback Charlie Pemberton is about to be stopped by a pair of Steinert tacklers on the one-yard line. There was no holding him after that, however, as the Little Tiger standout caught touchdown passes of 23 and 29 yards and ran 27 and 87 yards for two more to lead the Blue and White to a 40-18 victory. of those holes were as big as day," said Charlie.

"Our backs wouldn't be going any place if it weren't for guys like Art Ridler, Bob Copeland, Tommy Volz at center, Don Opdyke and Joe Cox on the line," said Jingoli. "Why, Tony Altieri has been opening holes all year. Opdyke, our running tackle, was actually ahead of Pemberton when he threw that block to set him free."

HUN STAYS UNBEATEN

By Blanking Friends. A pair of halfbacks, Doug Kirk and Gary Grover, led the Hun School to a 16-0 victory over Friends Central Friday at Germantown, Pa. Kirk scored both Hun touchdowns and Grover, who ran for long yardage throughout the game, made both two-point conversions. The victory was Hun's third shutout and fifth in a row without a loss.

Opponent number six is Pingry, which the Red and Black will meet Saturday—Parent's Day at Hun—on its home field. The kick-off is set for 2:30 and there is no admission charge.

The game should be a good one. According to Waterman, Pingry will be the toughest of Hun's three remaining foes. "It will," says he, "be our first venture into the big time."

"We'll be playing one of the toughest prep schools in the state," Waterman added. "The boys from Pingry—they have over 400 students to our 180—play in the big time. Regardless of our record, it will be a tough game because, for the first time, we will be meeting a team that is probably bigger than we are and one which will have more depth."

Depth, the lack of it, will definitely be a problem for Waterman if right halfback Joe D'Antona and right end Dave Richards, sidelined with injuries, cannot start Saturday. "They are the right side of our team," reported Waterman, "and if they don't get an O.K. from the doctor to play, I don't even want to think about it."

The importance of the Pingry game is underlined by the fact that both of Hun's remaining opponents which stand in its way of a perfect season—George School and Delbarton—have not had successful teams this year. "If we can get by Pingry," said Waterman, "and then lose, it will be considered an upset."

Hun Scores Quickly. Hun started fast against Central, as it has in all its previous games. On the first play from scrimmage, Grover circled right end from the midfield stripe to the home team 38. Later, Kirk swept the same end for a 30-yard scoring gallop and Hun's first six points. Grover plunged for the conversion.

The Johnny Huns did not register their second TD until the final quarter. The score was set up when end Don Pidcock slanted over the middle to catch Tim Walsh's short pass, cut to sidelines, and outraced the Central defenders. Fifteen yards from a certain tally, Pidcock's moment of glory was shattered, however, when he tripped and fell over a raised piece of turf. Two plays later Kirk went up the middle from seven yards out to score and Grover followed with a pass to freshman end Lonnie Kaplan to make it a 16-0 final.

LARRIES AT CHOATE

Unbeaten In 26 Games. Lawrenceville's football team will travel to Wallingford, Conn., Saturday for a game with Choate School. The Larries nipped Mercersburg Academy, 10-8, last week to remain unbeaten in 26 games.

John Bacon kicked an 18-yard field goal in the second period to erase an 8-7 Mercersburg lead and put the Red and Black ahead to stay. Lawrenceville took a 7-0 lead in the first period when Richard (Buzzy) Hannum plunged over from the five-yard line to cap a 70-yard scoring march. Bacon kicked the extra point.

Mercersburg went ahead midway through the second quarter when Dick Jackson threw an 18-yard pass to Dave Stafford in the Lawrenceville end zone. Jackson threw to Jim Merrill for a two-point conversion, making the score 8-7.

The victory was Lawrenceville's fourth in five games this season. The Red and Black played a 6-6 tie with Andover on October 14. Lawrenceville defeated Choate last year, 38-20.

Saturday in ceremonies at Heritage Field during halftime of the Pennington-George School football game.

Dr. Charles R. Smyth, headmaster, will present Mr. Poore with a plaque and watch on behalf of the board of trustees. Cooper T. Bishop, Jr., of Phoenixville, Pa., president of the Pennington Alumni Association, will present tickets to the 1962 Rose Bowl game to Mr. and Mrs. Poore. Both men played on teams coached by Mr. Poore.

Mr. Poore coaches football, basketball and baseball. His football teams have won several regional championships. The 1932 football team won the state championship. Mr. Poore's basketball teams won state championships in 1935 and 1944. Last year's team was second in state competition.

A native of Plymouth, Pa., Mr. Poore was graduated from Springfield College with a degree in physical education. Saturday's ceremonies will be part of the annual Alumni Home-Coming and Parents' Day Program.

BOWLING NOTES

Sportsmen on Top. Only four points separated the top five teams in the "B" League at the conclusion of Princeton bowling action last week. Sportsmen No. 1 held the top spot, one point ahead of Ivy Inn (31) and two points up on Prince Laundro (30), while Edwards Engraving and Kase Kleaners were tied for fourth with 28 points each. In the "A" circuit, Nini Motors (40) and Princeton Inn (38) both swept their series to make that league a two-team race.

In other Princeton action, Tiger Garage (36) maintained a seven-point margin over the Crescents in the Industrial loop, and Physics and COB were tied at 22 points each, with three teams tied at 18, in the Faculty circuit. The King Pins held a one-game edge over four teams tied with 14 points each in the ETS League.

Ideal (44) moved into first place in the Woman's Industrial loop, passing Jefferson Plumbing (42) and staying two games ahead of Gale Cleaners. In the Women's League, Amron Homes (47) gained a full game on Conover Motors (41) after a series sweep. Top women's scores included Barbara Danser, 213; Carol Lisi, 202; Marilyn Murphy, 197; and Sara Rose, 187, in the Women's League; and Betty Kleiber, 203; Lillian Burrough, 198; Rose Zinetti, 192; and Doris Fasanella, 191, in the Women's Industrial loop.

High men's scores included Bob Pressley, 219; Russ Reck, 232; Jack McGuckin, 203; and John Holler and Bill Hunter, 200 each, in the Faculty loop; Milton Shinn, 215; Dick Edwards, 208; Gilbert Ireland, 207; and George Drummond, 202, in the Industrial circuit; and Val Ranallo, 237; Fred Goeke, 217; Frank Delneso, 213; and George Kirby, 208, in the "A" League.

Also, Don Snyder, 217-244 and a 628 series; Frank Delneso, 238-222 and a 610 series; Bud Cavanaugh, 233; Sam Scuderati, 226; Milton Shinn, 225; Don Terhune, 224; Tony Tamasi, 209-222 and a 610 series; Howard McWhorter, 212; Joe Baldino, 211; Harry Kahny, 206; Tom Friel, 203; and Frank Maddalon, 201, all in the "B" loop.

Lawrenceville branch of the Princeton Chapter, American Red Cross, will be held this Thursday, November 2, at 8:30 in the Music Building of the Lawrenceville School. A slate of officers and board members to fill new and unexpired terms will be presented by S. C. Conger, nominating committee chairman.

Additional nominations may be made from the floor, if the nominees have agreed to run. The results of the 1961 fund drive will be given, and plans for the coming year will be discussed.

Those who made a contribution of at least $1 last year are eligible to vote at the meeting. Dudley Woodbridge is chairman of the branch.

NEW SCHOOL PLANNED

In West Windsor. Plans for construction of new elementary school were approved by the West Windsor Township Board of Education at its meeting last week. The board will meet soon with an architect to discuss specifications for the new school, which is to be ready for use in September, 1963.

In other action, Bernard Mount, board president, appointed a committee to make recommendations concerning adequate shelter areas for the school district. This action was taken following submission of a report on the need for shelter areas by Mrs. Reeves Hicks, chairman of the PTA Study Group on Civil Defense.

The board also adopted a resolution permitting the Penns Neck School to be used as a polling place in municipal, state and national elections. This action was taken because voters in District 2 were no longer able to use the Penns Neck Community Club for voting.

The appointment of two substitute teachers for the 1961-62 school year was approved. They are Mrs. Rosemary D. Dahl of Hamilton Square and Joseph Fink of Trenton. The resignations of two other teachers were accepted. They are Mrs. Nancy Dietz, effective

Report from THE MAYOR

Friday Open House. The regular weekly "Tell It To The Mayor'" sessions will be held on Friday, November 3, and on Friday, November 10, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings.

This week's session had previously been scheduled for Thursday but the schedule change became necessary. Also on the official calendar for the coming weeks are the agenda preparation session of Mayor and Council with key Borough staff on Monday, November 6, at 8 p.m.; the special meeting of Thursday, November 9th at 8 p.m which will involve the public hearing on the proposed bank branch referred to Council by the Zoning Board; and the regular November meeting of Mayor and Council which will be held on Monday, November 13, at 8 p.m. The meeting was moved up one day so that Borough officials and staff might attend important sessions of the New Jersey League of Municipalities during their annual conference.

Police Promotions. Last Friday afternoon and evening the Police Board, consisting of the three members of the public safety committee of the Council and the Mayor, conducted oral examinations as part of the selection process for promotions in the Borough police. The competition was keen; and the board was impressed by the calibre of the candidates and the fine manner in which they handled the long questioning.

The board was faced by difficult choices in weighing and evaluating the relative merits of the candidates; but at the end the choices were unanimous. On Monday afternoon, the appointments of the top men were made and confirmed.

Effective on Wednesday, Sgt. Francis J. Maguire was moved up to fill the lieutenant spot made vacant by the promotion of Lt. Peter J. McCrohan to replace retiring Chief Raymond Mondone Patrolman Michael Carnevale moved up to the sergeant vacancy caused by the Maguire promotion

Each position on our police force is an important public trust, and Princeton has a right to be proud of the men who serve in all ranks. Certainly the community will extend congratulations and best wishes to the three men who assume important new police posts this week.

Parents and Teachers. The Mayor was privileged to serve as a panelist in one of the sessions of the 61st annual convention of the New Jersey Congress of Parents and Teachers in Atlantic City.

Great interest was exhibited in the fine program of YES—the Youth Employment Service of Princeton. More than a dozen different communities have asked for the help of the Princeton experience in planning similar teenage work opportunities in their towns.

On The Calendar. Also on last week's calendar was a visit to the State Department in Washington to talk with officials there about still further advances in our community plans to entertain foreign visitors In addition to many student contacts, Princeton has been honored by the visits of governmental leaders, business men, religious leaders and others from all walks of life.

Many changes are being made in the procedures of these visits, and we intend to continue to offer the full cooperation of Princeton in this important aspect of world understanding Also last week, the mayor met again with the public library board as they continued their special deliberations on the much-needed new library facilities.

WORKERS HAVE BEGUN

On Day Schools Drive. Some 160 workers, including chairmen, team captains and solicitors have now been recruited to staff the General Gifts Division of the drive of raise funds for the new Princeton Day Schools.

If the campaign goal can be reached by next spring, Princeton Country Day School and Miss Fine's will move to their new joint campus on The Great Road in the fall of 1963, according to Malcolm Muir, Jr., chairman of General Gifts.

All alumni, parents, past parents and friends of the two schools will be visited by workers in the various divisions. Mr Muir said this week that the size and number of the first general gifts suggested "heartening and widespread enthusiasm" for the project. The advanced gifts phase began last spring.

Co-chairman of General Gifts is Mrs. Robert P. Wright. Vice-chairmen of various subdivisions are: Roger Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Gilbert Lea, Mrs. Jackson Martindell, Albert Wilson, Robert Hillier, Mrs. R C Wilkinson, Austin Starkey, Mrs. Stuart Willson and Basil Stetson.

Team captains are Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Ritchie, Mrs. F H. Wandelt, Mrs. Donald C. Stuart, Jr., Mrs. K. H. Behr, Mrs. David B. Miller, Edward Farley, E. C. Rose, Mrs. Henry Patton, K. P. Collins, Jr.

PLEDGE FULFILLED

By Lawrenceville Family. Dr. and Mrs. Jonathan Howland of 2719 Main Street, Lawrenceville, have helped to fulfill a pledge made by the late Dr. Thomas Dooley by taking a Vietnamese boy into their home. The boy will study at the Hun School with scholarship aid.

Dr. Dooley, who headed a hospital in Laos for many years before his death from cancer several months ago, had promised Lo Van Chung, an interpreter and hardworking assistant, that he would help him come to America to study. Dr. Dooley died before arrangements could be completed.

"When Dr. Dooley died I thought I would be a wandering and abandoned one all my life through," Chung, a member of the Black Thai tribe, said.

The Howlands met Dr. Dooley four years ago on a ship returning from Europe, Since that time, they have been contributing to the support of another protege of Dr. Dooley, Hoang Van Ngoan Ngoan informed the Howlands of Chung's plight.

"My husband and I just looked at each other and decided we had to take the boy into our home," Mrs. Howland said Dr. and Mrs. Howland have three children, including a 16-year-old son, Jonathan, Jr.

Transportation for Chung was arranged by the Dr Thomas A. Dooley Foundation of New York City. Chung arrived at Idlewild Airport from his native village of Quang Ngai, Viet Nam, last Thursday.

SQUARE DANCE FEATURE

Of Informal "Y" Evening. A Harvest Moon Square Dance will be the major activity of an informal evening to be held at the YMCA Friday for members and friends of the Y. Tickets are available at the Y office on Avalon Place and will be limited to 75 couples.

The square dancing will begin at 8.30 and last three hours. Charles Kides will call the music provided by records Other entertainment will include bridge, ping-pong and a midnight swim lasting from 11 to 12.

MEETINGS PLANNED

For Married Couples. A series of conferences designed to aid couples in meeting the problems of married life is being planned at St. Alphonsus' Church, Hopewell.

The Rev. Thomas F. Dentlci of St. Thomas Church, Old Bridge, will explain the purposes of the series at a "Mr and Mrs. Night" program next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the church hall, Princeton Avenue and East Prospect Street. Area married couples of all denominations are invited to attend the explanatory program.

CLUB PLANS TEA

For New Alumnae. The Wellesley Club of Central New Jersey will hold a tea for alumnae who have recently moved to the Princeton area next Wednesday at 4 in the home of Mrs. Fenn Stafford, 45 Cleveland Lane.

Mrs. William Stuart, club president, said there will also be a brief business meeting to discuss plans for the club's third annual antique show, scheduled for March. Mrs. John Gulick is general chairman for the event.

INDIAN VISITOR HERE

From International Rotary. Nitish Laharry, Indian lawyer who is president-elect of Rotary International, will address the Princeton Rotary Club Tuesday at 12:15 at the Club's regular monthly luncheon meeting.

Mr. Laharry, who has been a Rotarian since 1926, is an Advocate of the High Court in Calcutta Before his retirement in 1959, he was managing director of Columbia Films of India and district supervisor of International Corporation for India, Burma, Pakistan, Ceylon, Afghanistan and Nepal.

COMMUNITY PLANNED

For Elderly, Near Peddie. A retirement community for elderly persons has been proposed by the United Presbyterian Synod of New Jersey. The community would be built on a large estate which is near the Peddie School, lying in both East Windsor Township and the Borough of Hightstown.

The commmunity, which would be open to elderly persons of other faiths as well as Presbyterian, would contain residences, nursing and

WHY A DEMOCRAT PLANS TO VOTE REPUBLICAN

John H. Marks, staunch Democrat explains his reasons for supporting Borough Candidates Patterson, Carrick and Wood

I am a staunch Democrat, but I will support the Republican candidates for Borough office in the coming election. I shall do so from two motives: 1) the desire to preserve those aspects of Princeton living which make this community pleasant, and 2) the desire to find avenues of growth which do not encroach on the dignity or rights of large groups of Princeton residents. The proposals of the Republican candidates seem to me to be more reasonably directed toward these goals than do those of their opponents.

What are those desirable aspects of life in Princeton we want to preserve? 1) The atmosphere of a town devoted primarily to education, where people are not "priced out of town" any more than they already are, where the dominating effort is not toward more and more business but rather toward fuller understanding and enjoyment of life. 2) The appearance of an economically and socially varied community, devoid of the sleekness and uniformity of suburbia. 3) The opportunity for people to enjoy their humble or prosperous dwellings without fear of the bulldozers of aggressive modernity. 4) The relative peace, quiet and beauty of a residential community.

We do not have, nor will we ever have, a perfect community, and there is no point in trying to preserve a status quo simply for the sake of things as they are But the notion that Princeton needs "a shot in the arm" in the form of garden apartments (where the gardens are conspicuous by their absence) or bigger and better office buildings (where parking and traffic problems are increased rather than solved) is purely financial and destructive of the kind of community we enjoy.

The notion that urban renewal is "indispensible" to Princeton is likewise based on the questionable premise that all the Borough needs to solve all its problems and become an ideal place to live is more money. Why, explicitly, is urban renewal indispensible to Princeton? Indispensible to what? The large-scale relocation of Borough Streets? To a bustling new metropolis? A hooming budget? A community where the rich grow richer and the poor are deprived of even the little they possess?

I support the Republican candidates' opposition to urban renewal in Princeton, not because I believe the federal government should not be doing this sort of thing, but rather because the so-called good it would do for Princeton has never been demonstrated.. Mr. Carrick has pointed out that the 1960 census "uncovered 23 dilapidated dwelling units in the Borough." The Borough cannot discover from the census-takers where they are.

Since, however ,an existing structure might contain as many as four dwelling units, the actual number of structures in Princeton Borough which are "blighted" beyond the reach of habitation could be as few as five or six. What claim do we honestly have on federal funds for the removal of so few structures? Are there not hundreds of other New Jersey communities more needy in this respect than ours? When Palmer Square, Inc. completes the razing of its substandard buildings on Jackson St. where are we to look for blight?

The proposed master plan envisages the transformation of ten areas in the Borough. Urban renewal is, of course, indispensible to such a large-scale transformation. But what will be the net gain to Princeton if so many private dwellings are razed to make room for large office buildings and apartments?

Bigness will bring its own problems and meanwhile how many Princetonians will have been dispossessed and despoiled? Dignity and honor cannot be exchanged for a "handsome profit" in real estate.

Once we have insured the rights and dignity of our citizens the question of the Big Borough versus the present Borough is essentially one of preference. I prefer what we have to what is presented in the proposed master plan. I prefer to see us solve our problems by consolidation rather than by urban renewal. I prefer a few open spaces and small houses to great blocks of modern buildings. I prefer the small shops on Nassau Street to the big stores of a downtown or a shopping center.

It seems to me that the Republican candidates for Borough office have stated my preferences better than their opponents have. I will therefore vote Republican in the Borough election.

News Of The CHURCHES

CONSECRATION SET

Of Trinity-All Saints' Cemetery. Ceremonies marking the consecration of the new Trinity-All Saints' Cemetery and dedication of the memorial cross will be held Sunday at 3 p.m. on the grounds of All Saints' Chapel, Van Dyke Road. The Rev. Charles G. Newbery, vicar of All Saints', and the Rev. Robert R. Spears, Jr., rector of Trinity Parish, will officiate.

A two-and-a-half acre site of the cemetery, with room for 1100 graves, has been landscaped and mapped. Adjacent land will be developed when necessary. Theodore H. Stratton is cemetery manager.

The memorial cross, given by Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wallace, Jr., in memory of their daughter, Margaret, is surrounded by a plaza with seats for visitors. Individual grave markers to be installed in the future will be of a standard design and will be placed at ground level, to preserve the appearance of an expanse of green lawn.

CONFERENCE PLANNED

For Religious Educators. The third annual Religious Education Conference sponsored by Princeton Unitarian Church will be held at the church Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m.

Following registration, there will be a welcome by the Rev. Robert L. Cope, minister of the Princeton church. The program will include demonstration classes, workshops, and group discussions.

Luncheon will be served by the Cherry Hill Service Committee, under the direction of Mrs. Bayram Vural. The program will close with a tea, to be sponsored by the church's Religious Education Committee.

BULLETIN NOTES

● Senator Clifford P. Case will speak Sunday at a breakfast meeting of the Men's Club of Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church, to be held at 8:30 a.m. at the Nassau Inn.

● Concluding lecture in the Fall series sponsored by the Friends of Princetoo Seminary will be given Saturday at 10 a.m. in the Seminary's Campus Center Auditorium by Dr. Elmer G. Homrighausen, Seminary dean. His topic will be "Toward a Christian Humanism."

● A memorial service of Isadore Braveman, one of the founders of the Jewish community of Princeton, will be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at Princeton Jewish Center. Speakers will include Professor Erwin Panofsky of the Institute for Advanced Study and Dr. Saul Trister of Elizabeth, former head of the Princeton Jewish community.

● The United Young Adult Fellowship, a new group open to single, post-high school young adults of all denominations, will meet Sunday at 8 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church. The program will be a reading of a play on the life of Christ, "Kings of Judea," by Dorothea L. Sayers. Jim Gibson will be leader.

● Maxwell D. Lathrop, a missionary with the Wycliffe Bible Translators who has spent 25 years among the Tarascan Indians of Mexico, will give four talks in Princeton this weekend. Mr. Lathrop will speak Saturday at 4:30 and 7:30 p.m. and again Sunday at 4:30 p.m., all in Murray-Dodge Hall on the Princeton campus. He will aslo be guest speaker Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the evening service of Westerly Road Church.

● The annual Election Day bazaar sponsored by the Women's Organization of Plainsboro Presbyterian Church will be held Tuesday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Parish House. Handmade items will be for sale and refreshments will be available.

Africao Bishop Here

The Rt. Rev. Trevor Huddleston, Bishop of Masasi, Tanganyika, Africa, will be visiting Princeton this Saturday, Sunday and Monday as a guest of Trinity Episcopal Church. Bishop Huddleston is well-known for his fight against the apartheid policy of the Union of South Africa, where he worked from 1943 to 1949.

Bishop Huddleston will preach at All Saints' Chapel at 9 a.m. Sunday and at Trinity Church at 11 a.m. He will also speak Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at an open meeting in Murray-Dodge Hall of Princeton University and Monday at 1 p.m. at a meeting of the Episcopal Church Women of Trinity Parish.

Miss Barbara Huber of Rosedale Road, a member of Trinity Parish, has volunteered to go to Africa and work as a teacher in one of the schools sponsored by the Diocese of Masasi. Bishop Huddleston will complete arrangements for Miss Huber's work during his visit.

Interment will be in the Old School Baptist Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of MARY PETRONE, beloved wife and mother who passed away October 31, 1957

The flowers we place upon your grave,
May wither and decay,
But love for you who sleeps beneath,
Will never fade away.
Dearly loved and sadly missed by

FUND REPORTS PROGRESS

Toward $250,000 Goal. Princeton's United Fund campaign total so far is $168,866, representing 68 percent of the $250,000 goal.

New contributions include returns from RCA totalling $19,628 for a 25 percent increase over last year and Astro-Electronics division of RCA for $10,500, a 56 percent increase over last year.

Divided into the various divisions, the totals are: Special Gifts: $81,000 for 81 percent of quota; Research: $49,300, 75 per cent of quota; Mercantile: $6,291, 60 percent; Professions: $9,400, 25 percent.

Also, Building Trades: $2,400, 60 percent; Shopping Center: $775, 25 percent; University: $8,100, 32 percent; Neighborhood: $11,600, 60 percent.

This week's honor roll additions are University Cleaners, Matthews Construction, University Store, Langrocks, Opinion Research, Educational Testing Service, Real Estate Division, Automobile Retail Division, Walker-Gordon, Township Public Schools, Mason and Bricklayers Local No. 30.

ORDINANCE PASSES

In Hopewell Township. A controversial ordinance to amend the Hopewell Township Zoning Ordinance was passed Tuesday by a 4 to 1 margin by the Township Committee.

The controversy had centered around approval of an apartment ordinance that would permit construction of the proposed Princeton Manor House on Elm Ridge Road. Opposing the ordinance was the Hopewell Valley Improvement Association, the majority of whose members live on Elm Ridge Road. The lone Committee dissenter was Paul Van-Wegen. Though not opposed to the ordinance in general, he felt that neither the 75 acres of land specified as required for an apartment building nor the 10 percent allotment of acreage for buildings was sufficient. He favors 100 acres and 5 percent building coverage.

Another objection concerned the availability of water for such a large construction. Mayor Lester Huff said that would have to be solved when an application for the apartment was received. No application, as yet, has been made.

Voting for the ordinance were Mayor Huff and Committeemen John Oldis, Fred Rasweiler and Theodore Veefkind. One suggestion offered by those favoring the ordinance was that a multiple housing zone be set up in the Township.

The mayor denied, in answer to a question, that the ordinance had been prepared especially for the Manor project. General Steven Barlow, owner of the largest part of the land under consideration by the apartment builders, reaffirmed that he had sold no land or entered into any agreement with the Manor group.

HEADS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE: Carl F. Breuer will direct Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association's campaign for new members.

MEMBERS SOUGHT

By Watersheds Unit. The Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association has begun a drive to enroll new members. Carl Breuer of 79 Parkside Drive is general chairman.

The organization currently has 500 members. "A substantially larger membership is needed, however," Mrs. Breuer said, "if the Association is to carry out the ever-increasing amount of important work in the conservation of natural resources."

A group of 75 members and trustees will solicit new memberships personally. Persons who are not contacted have been asked to send inquiries to the Association at Box 171, Pennington. The Association is a 12-year-old, non-profit, educational group, devoted to conservation of land, water, forests, wildlife and open space in the Stony Brook and Millstone Watersheds.

CAPTAINS NAMED

For Mitchell Drive. Captains for the Mitchell for Governor telephone drive have been announced by Mrs. Francis Ryan, chairman of the Princeton Citizens for Mitchell Telephone Drive.

They are Mrs. A. J. Collinson, Mrs. J. P. Cleaver, James Bennett, Mrs. John F. Scott, Roger Schultz, Robert Dougherty, H. Morgan Holman and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kinnell. Mrs. James Gatling is liaison co-ordinator between the regular Republican party and the Citizens for Mitchell.

BOYCHOIR ON TOUR

To Travel 8000 Miles. The Columbus Boychoir left this week for an 8000 mile tour of states east of the Mississippi. Donald Bryant, musical director, is in charge of the tour, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wolfe will teach the boys in the "Schoolhouse on Wheels."

The 27 boys are accompanied by four adult singers who will participate in the presentation of Menotti's "Amahl and the Night Visitors." The group expects to return to Princeton in December.

ARCHITECT TO SPEAK

Award-Winner Here. I. M. Pei, Chinese-born American architect, will give a free public lecture next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in 10 McCosh under the auspices of Princeton University's School of Architecture.

Mr. Pei has won several awards for his work. Among his winning projects are the Zeckendorf Plaza Development in New York, Philadelphia's Washington Square East Development, the Pan Pacific Center, Honolulu; the Mile High Center and the Denver Hilton Hotel, Denver. He also submitted the winning entry in the 1960 Port of New York Authority competition for a multi-airline terminal at Idlewild.

TWO ACCUSED

Of Assault and Battery. In separate incidents, Gloria Thompson, 34 of 82 Clay Street and Kenneth E. Tatum, 41, of 174 Birch Avenue, were charged with assault and battery last week by police for stabbing others. Tatum was charged with stabbing two persons.

In a special session of Magistrate's Court Tuesday, Tatum was sentenced to 90 days in the Mercer County Workhouse on both charges, the sentences to run concurrently. He was charged with stabbing his wife, Zelma, 30, and Willie Grady, 43, of 144 Witherspoon Street early Saturday morning at 123½ John Street.

Mr. Grady was taken to the Princeton Hospital and admitted for a perforated wound of the abdomen. He was released Tuesday. Mrs. Tatum was treated for a puncture wound of the chest and multiple small lacerations and released. The stabbing occurred after Tatum had gone to see his wife on John Street and found her in the company of Mr. Grady.

The other stabbing victim was Henry J. Steppe, 26, of 18 Clay Street. Reportedly Miss Thompson nicked him in the left shoulder with a pen knife after he had refused to sit and talk with her last Thursday. He was treated for cuts on his fingers and had five stitches administered to his shoulder.

Miss Thompson was released after posting $50 bail. She will appear in court Monday.

WOMAN IS VICTIM

Of $80 Swindle. Mrs Charles H. Teall of 15 Greenview Avenue was swindled last Tuesday when she paid $80 for 40 bushels of fertilizer which turned out to be worthless leaf mold.

Mrs. Teall informed police that "a young, clean-cut man drove up in a red truck with R&C Nursery lettered on the door" and told her that he had just made a special trip to deliver the fertilizer her husband had ordered Paying for the delivery by check, Mrs. Teall tried to stop payment on it when she learned her husband had not ordered any fertilizer. The bank reported that the check had already been cashed.

TELL US MORE

Group Meets on Shelters. Approximately 60 residents of the Edgerstoune Road area met in the Hun School library Monday night to discuss the possibility of community or family fallout shelters. The meeting was called at the instigation of Herbert S. Bailey, Jr., 53 Hun Road.

Those who attended the meeting decided to circulate a petition urging local, state and national authorities to make plans for fallout shelters which would take care of everyone within a community. "not just the people who can afford them," Mr. Bailey said.

"We believe that fallout shelters are only effective in a broad context," Mr. Bailey said, "and we will support government action at any level, in the interest of care for all citizens.

Mr. Bailey also said he hoped that Borough and Township authorities would examine Princeton's public buildings to see which might be adapted for shelters.

SEVERAL HURT

In Accidents. Three women were injured at 1 a.m. Saturday when the car in which they were riding went out of control on Stockton Street, travelled for 200 feet and came to rest on a high bank, having struck a pole and knocked off a Public Service transformer.

Township police said that Mrs. Lilian Bradley, 34, of Trenton, lost control as she was driving west on Stockton Street. She and her passengers, Mrs. Jessie Broadway, 53, 12 Birch Avenue, and Mrs. Ruth Washington, 36, Trenton, were taken to Princeton Hospital by the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad.

Mrs. Bradley sustained fractured ribs, a fractured jaw, and lacerations of leg and chin. Mrs. Broadway suffered a fractured left shoulder and left ankle and lacerations of the right knee. Mrs. Washington, with scalp wounds and abrasions, was treated and released.

Public Service reports that the transformer, knocked off by the accident, has disappeared.

On A Bike. Riding his motorcycle down the curve of The Great Road, Edward Elliott, 21, a University undergraduate, missed the curve and plowed through a seven-foot hedge at 2:15 a.m. last Thursday. There were no skid marks, according to Township police. Mr. Elliott sustained a puncture wound in the nose and a lacerated scalp and was released from Princeton Hospital early this week.

Tony Rosmini, 46, Skillman, was taken to Princetoo Hospital with a cut forehead and a possible concussion last Thursday evening following a collision on Route 206. He was later released from the Hospital.

The accident occurred when Robert W. Taylor, 36, an employee of Kingston Trap Rock, driving north on Route 206, turned left into a driveway, colliding with Mr. Rosmini who was driving south. The electrical system in Mr. Rosmini's car caught fire and Township police extinguished it. Mr. Taylor received a summons.

In the Borough. Arthur Riccio, Jr., 26, 15 Humbert, damaged the entire front of his car early Sunday morning when he jumped the curb and hit a tree on Hamilton Avenue near the Chestnut intersection. Mr. Riccio, charged by Borough police with careless driving, was taken to Princeton Hospital by police and treated for lacerations of the face and arm.

A cyclist, James C. Walker, 26, 107 Bayard Lane, ran into an open car door on Palmer Square West Monday afternoon and suffered lacerations of the cheek below the right eye. Unable to see the open door in time, he struck it and broke the glass. The car was owned by George S. Witt, 38, Penns Neck.

George K. Karatzas, 41, 169 Witherspoon, was treated in Princeton Hospital for facial cuts after his car hit a storm drain at Elm and Rosedale. His car travelled 150 feet, and came to rest against a tree.

LEA HEADS DRIVE

Annual Giving Begins. Gilbert Lea of Province Line Road is chairman of Princeton University's 22nd Annual Giving Campaign which began this week. For the third successive year the drive is being conducted simultaneously with the "$53 Million for Princeton" capital gifts campaign.

Mr. Lea will have charge of some 2,000 alumni working through 70 class representatives, 308 regional organizations and a non-alumni parents committee. Last year's Annual Giving Campaign netted $1,407,927.

Associated with Mr. Lea are Arthur J. Horton, executive director of the annual giving office; Horace W. Moody, secretary for regions; Ralph K. Ritchie, secretary for class agents; and Charles L. Taggart, secretary for parents. Funds raised by the Annual Giving Campaign are applied to the university's current operating expenses.

SKILLMAN MAN ARRESTED

For Lewdness. Herbert J. Seeburger, 24, of Main Road, Skillman was arrested Monday night by Ptl. Richard J. Panicaro on Nassau Street near the Wine and Game Shop. The arrest followed reports that a man had been exposing himself to young girls in the area, the most recent incident having occurred Sunday on Hodge Road.

When arrested by Ptl. Panicaro, who had recogoized the suspect's car from earlier reports, Seeburger reportedly had in his possession a box containing lewd pictures and pornographic films. He was charged with open lewdness and possession of obscene literature and pornographic materials.

Dear TRAVELEX,

I'm off to the Orient! The New Oriental Express will take me on a 16 day tour of Japan, Hong Kong, and Macao!

First I'll jet to Los Angeles from Idlewild, then board the N.O.E. jet and arrive a couple of days later in Tokyo. (We'll lose a day on the International Date Line (darn it!)

We'll take the train to Nikko and see the shrines and Lake Chuzinji and Kegon Waterfall and back to Tokyo. Next day we'll be off to Kamakura via Yokohama, Daibutsu (the great image of Buddha) and then we'll visit a Japanese family.

Next day we'll go to Lake Hakone to see Mt. Fuji, then drive to Atami, hot spring resort and through Ten Province Pass, then off on a jet streamlined train to Kyoto to see the sights and go either to a tea ceremony or a flower arrangement demonstration. Haven't made up my mind, yet. That evening we'll enjoy a sukiyaki dinner and watch the Geisha girls. . . . Oops!

As ever,
Nancy

OUR FAVORITE CANOIDATES

FOR HOUSING VALUE

NEAT AND LIVABLE Cape Cod, convenient Township location. Living room, spacious kitchen, optional dining room or bedroom. Three other bedrooms, tile bath. Plus separate study area, full basement. Only $21,500

TOWERING TREES guard this attractive multi-level home in the northern part of the Township. Living room with cathedral ceiling, bow window, and balcony, separate dining room; huge, fully equipped kitchen. Four bedrooms, two baths, 15 x 30 foot recreation room with fireplace, utility room. Two-car garage. $45,000

I WON'T BE AROUND FOR LONG—I'm only five years old, but I know a lot about making a family happy. Maybe it's my four divine bedrooms and three tile baths. Maybe it's the fireplace in my pine paneled study that holds the secret of my allure. I'm told the view from my bay window is sublime. By the way, that's in the living room along with fireplace number two. Maybe it's my twin brick chimneys or my snappy red and white facade. Maybe it's just my Lake Drive address that knocks 'em dead. I'm terribly exclusive (with Cook, of course!), but drive by and see me sometimes. I'm not really cheap, but . . . $34,900

BUY RIGHT and have many extra features usually only obtainable at a much higher price. Living room with fireplace, dining "L", family room, fine kitchen, three bedrooms, and two tile baths; and, believe it or not, basement and two-car garage. All for $21,500
